STARVING CHINESE MASSACRED BY MOSLEMS

Racing to Be Permitted at Willows Park During Fall Fair, City Council Decides

Conditional Grant Approved for Race Meeting at Willows

Council Agrees That Colwood Park Association Will Operate During the Exhibition, Subject to Proof That Totalisators Can Be Used, and Meanwhile Suspends Action

Tenders Submitted for Privilege Are Unopened

"THAT the Colwood Park Racing Association, Limited, be permitted to proceed with arrangements for the conducting of horse racing at the Willows Park during the approaching Fall Fair, subject to the legal department of the city receiving satisfactory proof that the automatic totalisator betting machines are in a condition to permit of their being used in respect of the said racing, and that such machines will be used and operated in relation to the contrary be and is hereby suspended and subject to further consideration."

The above was the resolution, which, after lengthy consideration of the whole subject, was passed by the City Council last night, with only Mayor Ascomb dissenting. It came as the climax to other resolutions which were both lost on tie votes, and scored the way out of the deadlock. The tenders were not opened, and the council refused to rescind its resolution of two weeks ago. The first vote was on the amendment of Alderman Marchant, which was to the effect that the tenders for the racing concessions be now considered, but that negotiations be entered upon with a view to the withdrawal of the terms of the agreement of January, 1927, and fulfilment of all the obligations imposed upon each of the parties concerned between the city and the Colwood Park Racing Association. The second vote was on Alderman Adam's resolution that the action of the council two weeks ago be rescinded, which was also lost on a tie vote.

In support of his amendment Alderman Marchant outlined his reasons. He could not think, he said, that members of the council would be willing to declare they would not continue the agreement. To him it was a matter of honor, and for that one would not be a party to breaking it. Alderman Marchant's remarks were supported by Alderman Winfield and Alderman Dowler. The mayor contended that there was no information that the assurances would be used.

Alderman Litchfield stated that only a few hours ago he was informed there was no reason the machines could not be used, and Alderman Sears described the matter as he most extraordinary state of affairs of which he had ever heard.

SITUATION CHANGED

The city solicitor mentioned the conversation he had had with Mr. Hearshaw in his office when the latter told him he was not prepared to take action against the Colwood Park association and declared Woodward submitted that the aspect of the matter was now entirely changed. He did not see how they would proceed to open the tenders.

Alderman Cullin replied that they could have everything above board.

WAS WITNESS OF CRASH OF LT. BROMLEY

Victoria Man Tells Story of Accident as He Saw It From the Field of Attempted Flight

SAW WING CRUMPLE AS COLLAPSE CAME

"It was a sad sight to see Lieutenant Harold Bromley crash in a cloud of dust at Tacoma on Sunday morning," said Mr. H. J. Johnson, of Johnson Furniture Works of Victoria, who with Mr. Ernest Fox of Eva Brothers, Limited, witnessed the tragic end of the attempt to take off for Tokio.

Hundreds were gathered at the flying field to see the courageous flier off on the longest ocean journey yet attempted by plane. Mr. Johnson continued. Many spectators had walled all night wrapped up in blankets and before small fires on the edge of the field, when about 5 o'clock the mechanics was to leave on Sunday morning.

SWARMING THRONGS

"Soldiers and mounted police with the greatest of difficulty kept the throng from swarming around the runway, which stretched from the raised wooden ramps nearly a mile across the flying field. A police patrol and fire engine were ready to render aid should mishap befall Bromley before he soared into air and perhaps fame. All over the field were signs bearing the words, 'Good Luck, Bromley.'

Mining Concerns Push Northward For Development

OTTAWA, July 29.—Interest in the mineral possibilities of Canada's far north continues to increase and a number of new stations have been established in the districts devoted to this industry. Three new posts have been founded near the Arctic Circle by the Dominion Explorations, Ltd., a subsidiary of the Lindsley group. Three are at Baltimar Inlet, Copper Mine River and Fort Reliance. The Lindsleys also have bases at Mistake Island, in the Hudson's Bay, about 100 miles north of Churchill and on Baker Lake, out of which flows Chesterfield Inlet.

FAILS TO DEATH ON C.P.R. SHIP

VANCOUVER, July 29.—Yone Pee, a Chinese deck hand on the R.M.S. Empress of Asia, fell seventy-five feet from the mainmast to instant death on the decks of the ship this morning. He was engaged in the usual port work of washing down the masts when his foot slipped and he pitched to the steel deck.

COTTON MILLS STOPPED AND WORKERS OUT

Half a Million Men and Women and 1,500 Mills Affected by Serious Wages Dispute

$5,000,000 TO BE WAGE LOSSES

MANCHESTER, July 29.—Lancashire's cotton industry was brought almost to a standstill today by a general stoppage of work caused by the enforcement of a 12½ per cent wage reduction. Half a million men and women are directly affected by the 1,500 mills and wages amounting to $5,000,000 is involved. As yet there is no sign of a quick solution of a very intricate labor dispute which has threatened the country for weeks and which now presents a more serious problem than any of its kind since the general strike of 1926 in England.

REDUCTION REFUSED

The situation is the result of continued opposition by the cotton trade which led to an anti-unionists by employers than the 5 per cent reduction would be made effective Saturday. Traders unions refused to accept the reduction and although all mills were open as usual today the unionist were staunch in their defiance of the order.

In the cotton industry itself there is a general opinion the dispute stoppage will not be of long duration.

PRESS SYMPATHY

Greater sympathy is displayed in the British press for the workers than usually is the case in such disputes and while there seems to be widespread opinion that the employers' reductions is not the proper or only remedy for the ills from which industrial Lancashire is suffering, the fact that the stoppage is so many mills not affiliated to the employers' organization and that men working on the old wage basis have refused to accept have been reported except at Preston where a small number of men reporting for work being hooted by strikers.

Aircraft Maker Himself Killed In Plane Crash;

ST. LOUIS July 29. George Lee Lambert, twenty-three, vice-president of the Von Hoffman Aircraft Company and a son of Major Albert Lambert, who is chief financial observer of the St. Louis Robin Hood Flying Field, and Harold C. Jones, eighteen, of New York City, a Texas Christian student, were killed today in a crash of a Bellanca racer Black Jack St. Louis County Lambert-St. Louis municipal airport and was found to be dead when he reached St. Louis hospital.

Cool Breeze From Sea Tempers Heat; Mercury Lowered

A MAXIMUM temperature of 83 degrees was recorded at the Dominion station here on Sunday and a minimum of 52 degrees, an unusually wide spread in one day for Victoria. The minimum recorded for yesterday was only 49 degrees, although in the more sheltered parts of the city the impression was that the temperature was less moderate. The minimum recorded was only one degree lower than on Sunday and the forecast predicts fine, hot and very dry weather, with light to moderate winds.

Lieut. Harold Bromley to Get New Airplane and Make Further Effort to Fly to Tokio

NEW VENTURE ON ORIGINAL PLANS

Expects to Make Second Attempt Some Time in September—Money Will Not Stand in Way

TACOMA, Wash., July 29 (A.P.).—A new monoplane, to be called "The Greater Tacoma" will be back by the Tacoma airport in three days or slightly longer, to take off for Tokio with Lieut. Harold Bromley at the controls. This, in effect, was the announcement of Bromley himself today after assurances had been given him, and the public by Mayor James G. Newbegin and John Buffelin, of the financing committee that money would not stand in the way of a new venture based upon the original plan.

With Woody Debs, of the Lockheed Aircraft Company, C. W. Paxon Pratt and Whitney motor expert and mechanics, Bromley this morning supervised the first steps toward dismantling the wreck.

TO REBUILD PLANE

Debs estimated that it will cost from $10,000 to $12,000 to rebuild the plane.

"It's not as badly hurt as it looks," he said.

"I feel positive that we can be back here with the new plane in thirty days," Bromley said. "As to weather conditions, I have checked up on the charts and find that conditions in August and early September are practically as good as in July, and even if we are delayed a little longer we can expect a break that will give me my chance."

PLANE WRECKED

The first hopeful ended disasterously Sunday morning when the ground loop after its pilot had been forced to avoid someplace whirled into a blinded by gas issuing from vents in

BY-ELECTIONS DO NOT CHANGE PARTY STATE

Independent Conservative Wins in Lanark After Hotly Contested Fight for the Seat

MR. L. A. WILSON IS AGAIN RETURNED

PERTH, Ont. July 29.—In a hotly contested by-election, Dr. W. J. Mumby of Smith's Falls Independent Conservative was today returned as member of Parliament for Lanark. After sixty-one polls out of seventy-nine had given him a majority of 1,200 his election was conceded by his opponent, Thomas A. Thompson, the official Conservative candidate.

The three-party contest was the result of a dispute as to whether the convention had been carried out properly. At the nomination meeting Mr. Murphy contended that Smith's Falls was not property represented and that his opponents had left the hall. In the election today complete returns from Smith's Falls gave Dr. Murphy 3,118 votes and Mr. Thompson 2,118. The by-election was necessitated by the death of the former member, Dr. R. F. Preston Conservative. Dr. Preston was first elected in a by-election in 1922 and was re-elected at the general elections in 1925 and 1926.

BY-ELECTION CONCEDED

VAUDREUIL, Que. July 29.—With slightly less than half the polls heard from, the re-election of Lawrence A. Wilson, Liberal member of Parliament for Vaudreuil-Soulanges, was generally conceded tonight. In twenty-six polls out of fifty-five Mr. Wilson had received 2,234 votes, while his Independent opponents Odie Mousseau and Emil Cagne, had registered but 711 and 212 respectively.

Wire conditions throughout the north side of the large riding made the gathering of all results practically impossible tonight.

Have Broken All Records

DALE Jackson, left, and Forest O'Brine, right, of St. Louis, were last night still flying strongly in their endurance plane, the Robin of St. Louis. PLEADS FOR THOUGHTFUL DEMOCRACY

Conservative Leader Speaks of Essential Principles of Good Citizenship and Its Duties

WOMEN PLAYING IMPORTANT PART

BRITANNIA BEACH, July 29.—Opening the second session of his Pacific Coast tour, Hon. R. B. Bennett, this afternoon, appealed for a study of the responsibility of citizenship and the necessity for the development of a thoughtful democracy in Canada. In so doing, the Conservative leader stressed the important part that women were playing in dealing with national problems.

The franchise had been extended to men by a gradual process, with ownership of property as the original qualification to vote. The po p le vote had been suddenly thrust upon the women of the country, and it was to them especially that Mr. Bennett addressed his appeal.

He asked that national issues be studied without regard to appeals to passion or prejudices, and that the conclusion of all citizens of this country should be governed by the question of our welfare as part of the great British Empire.

Throughout his remarks the Opposition leader emphasized that he was not appealing for votes in any sense of the word. It his purpose in key part of his tour to discuss political affairs from any narrow viewpoint. Mr. Bennett today was supported by General A. D. McRae, chief Conservative whip and member for North Vancouver, and Sir George

Great Airship Carries Queer Cargo on Trip

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, July 29.—With all of her new motors functioning perfectly during her second flight of nearly twelve hours, the German airship Graf Zeppelin is ready for the next flight to America.

Dr. Hugo Eckner, commander has named Thursday morning for the start. Motor trouble spoiled the attempt of the craft to reach America last May.

Already much of the freight for the transatlantic crossing is stowed away in the big airship. It includes a Rubens painting a grand piano, several gorillas, as well as a bust of the late Baron von Hutterfeld, owner and passenger in the airplane Bremen which flew to America last year.

Mother of Lady Byng Has Died

BRIGHTON, Eng., July 29.—Lady Jessie Morton, mother of Lady Byng, died here very suddenly at the age of seventy-three years. She was the widow of Sir Richard Morton, son of the Earl of Ducie, who died in March, 1927.

Mary Irwin, now wife of the former Governor-General of Canada and the chief of the Metropolitan Police, Lord Byng, was the only child of Sir Richard, and Lady Morton.

IS POINCARE CABINET BUT NO POINCARE

New French Government Called the "Cabinet of a Hundred Days," Recalling Napoleon

MAY BE REVISED AT LATER DATE

PARIS, July 29 (A.P.).—Premier Aristide Briand this evening presented his Socialist cabinet to the Chamber of Deputies for approval. The cabinet is composed of twelve ministers, with the addition of Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons, as minister without portfolio.

The Radical Party decided this morning to withhold its support but the group was split and M. Briand is expected to have the same support that M. Poincare enjoyed.

Premier Briand himself calls the new combination a "reunion cabinet," while the opposition refers to it as "the Cabinet of the Hundred Days," alluding to Napoleon's return from Elba, and the length of the parliamentary recess.

Political observers describe M. Briand's twelfth ministry as a "Radical-Socialist" combination, and with no other change. They consider he will encounter and its composition subject to revision after the Chamber recess is over.

Lad Is Drowned In Fraser River Whilst at Work

VANCOUVER, July 29.—Alfred Pilch fifteen, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pilch, Twelfth Avenue, Burnaby, was drowned in the Fraser River this afternoon. He was working on a plank over the river at the log sorting factory of the B.C. Manufacturing Company, Lulu Island, when he fell in. He had been employed at that plant about one and one-half months. Dragging operations have failed to recover the body.

Tale of Slaughter Reads Like Pages Of Medieval Story

Moslems, In Fervor of Religious Fanaticism Kill Thousands of Men and Women, According to American Missionary—Chinese, Weakened by Starvation, Could Not Offer Resistance

Estimates Total of Dead To Be Close to 200,000

PEKING, China, July 29.—Massacre by Mohammedans of 70,000 men, women and boys in Dangar City, Province of Chinghai, was reported today by Findley Andrews, American missionary, with details which read like pages torn from the worst chapters of medieval persecution and rapine. Mr. Andrews, who has just returned to Shanghai in the Fukien area of Northern China for the China Inland Mission, assembled information from eyewitnesses and other Chinese officials reports to the international famine relief commission, from which it was learned that the Mohammedan raiders, in the space of two hours, annihilated the male inhabitants of the unhappy city and then looted the homes.

From what the missionary was informed, the raiders attacked the mountain town, mounted and afoot, with the drums of "kill the men, kill every male from seventeen to seventy." They rushed the city gates in religious frenzy.

Only a few dozen were killed, mostly those who attempted to shield the men. The Chinese men, weakened by famine conditions and privations, could offer little resistance, so far as Mr. Andrews could ascertain. Every able-bodied man was killed, while the aged, the very young and a few who managed to hide in cellars escaped. Barbarous fanaticism was given as the motive for the raid by Mr. Andrews. There has been a Moslem rebellion in progress in Kansu Province for some time and it was estimated that 200,000 persons were killed between April and October last year.

The raid on Dangar occured during the Winter and was described by Mr. Andrews as the most gruesome in the long history of Moslem outbreaks in China. It was not the most terrible in loss of life, for a Kansu Moslem rebellion in 1877 is said to have cost 14,000,000 lives. Mr. Andrews and his colleagues made such a butchery of the male inhabitants of Dangar because, he said, that the Moslem who kills ten Chinese will surely go to Paradise.

TROOPS WITHDRAW

TOKIO, July 29.—Press dispatches today from Manchuria said that Russian and Chinese troops were withdrawing from the border and creating a neutral zone in order to avoid clashes.

Rengo News Agency dispatches from Mandalia said that Chinese troops on Sunday morning started withdrawing from the environs of Khabar, leaving a small cavalry detachment at the border.

The latter reports the withdrawal was motivated partially by fear of Mongolian invasion which would cut them off in the rear. The Rengo dispatches did not mention any Russian movement, but Moscow dispatches said military headquarters there announced the Russians had withdrawn both at Manchuli and Pogranichnaya, respectively, under orders from Moscow.

Rengo said the withdrawals, created a zone of about thirty Chinese li, or about twelve miles, separating the two forces.

RUMORS FALSE

MOSCOW, July 29.—The official Tass News Agency was authorized today to deny as completely unfounded rumors of negotiations between diplomatic representatives of Russia and China. It was said the Chinese representative in Berlin had tried to meet the Soviet envoy, Krestinsky, but that his overtures were rejected.

Eruption of Kilauea Is Now Quieter

HONOLULU, July 29.—Lava fountains in Halemaumau began to show a diminution of flow early today. The lake of molten rock in the crater began to show a crust on the surface, which may mean that the present eruption of Kilauea volcano is quieting or that the pressure is building a bed of accessory.

MINISTERS STUDY ROAD ENTERPRISES

Premier and Minister of Public Works Visit Highway Construction Areas in Neighboring States

SEEK TO AVOID SOME MISTAKES

"We traveled over and inspected 900 miles of road on the State of Washington and Oregon during our trip," said Premier Tolmie, in describing the week-end tour which he made in company with Hon. R. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, and Mr. F. Philip, deputy minister of that department. The Premier and party returned to the city yesterday at noon.

"We saw roads in all stages of construction, and were also shown the mistakes that had been made in highway construction by these states. There was no attempt to hide anything from us that would be of help in solving our problems in the matter of road construction. We were shown the tearing up problems arising on some of the highway systems where improper methods had been adopted in time past.

"In some of these cases the errors were due to lack of experience, and in other cases were attributed to the fact that in the earlier days of highway construction speed was necessary in the face of ascertaining permanency."

ON INVITATION OF MR. HILL

The visit of the party from British Columbia was made on the invitation of Mr. Samuel Hill, of Seattle, who for thirty years has been advocating in season and out of season the need of good roads. With plenty of capital at his disposal, Mr. Hill has been devoting a great deal of attention to the matter. Possessed of unbounding energy, he has followed his convictions with regard to the improvement of the roads of the Pacific Coast with untiring efforts, to have them brought into effect.

Mr. Hill made arrangements for his visitors from British Columbia that they should have the fullest information that could be given them on this matter of road building. All the senior road services operated by the state road commissioners available to give any information sought.

This included Mr. H. B. Van Duzen, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and Mr. Roy Cline, the Oregon State Highway engineer. The information gleaned, it is felt, will be of great benefit to the work in hand in this province.

"Big Nickel" in Plate at Church Appears Quarter

OTTAWA, July 29.—The advent of the "Big Nickel" has refused shrunk collections, an Ottawa churchman told his Sunday congregations. "These large five cent pieces are dropped into the collection plate with a flourish that belongs to nothing less than a quarter. I don't blame the shorter collections on the people, I blame the Government."

Scientists, military men and others of Europe are taking great interest in the new aerial eye, the invention of a young man. The "eye" reveals territory over a range of 400 miles. The television set is installed in an airplane with a hole in the cabin floor through which images picked up are transmitted to a receiving station below. The development of radio vision will enable army officers to obtain a continuous moving picture of enemy fortifications, troop movements, gun emplacements and supply depots.

Your food doesn't do you any good if you're tired

Tired, strained nerves interfere with digestion. At the end of the day's work, it is a good rule to relieve nervous tension before eating—by the use of Wrigley's. Your doctor will tell you how the act of chewing relaxes and soothes the tired nerves—how the healthful cleansing action of Wrigley's refreshes and tones you up all round—so that you're ready to enjoy your food.

Wrigley's also helps digestion after meals, by stimulating the flow of natural juices. In addition, it cleanses the teeth, removes all traces of eating or smoking—and sweetens the breath.

the brimming fuel tanks. Following the crash a special meeting of backers of the flight was called which resulted in a decision to rebuild the City of Tacoma immediately. The wrecked plane will be crated up today and sent to the Lockheed plant in Burbank, Cal., while Tuesday Bromley himself will be southward bound, according to plans announced last night.

The orange plane, which was to have winged its way nearly 5,000 miles across the Pacific Ocean to Japan, had gone less than fifteen hundred feet down the oiled runway, when it veered sharply to the left into soft dirt, tore off the right wheel of the landing gear, demolished the right wing and stuck its stubby nose into the earth.

An examination by Lockheed plant experts showed the big 425-horsepower motor of the plane was not seriously damaged.

20,000 PRESENT

The take-off attempt was started at 6:06½ a.m. yesterday under perfect weather conditions. Some 20,000 persons, many of whom had spent the night at the field to see the start, lined the long runway. There were startled gasps from men, while women screamed when the crash came. A minute afterward the fence which had held back the crowd was broken down and the spectators streamed over to the wreck.

Bromley leaped from the cockpit, confused but unhurt.

WAS WITNESS OF CRASH OF LT. BROMLEY

'Good luck, Harold,' and other encouraging words.

"Bromley was to have left at 4 o'clock in the morning but was delayed for some reason. At that time it was quite clear and gave forth promise of being a hot day," Mr Johnson continued.

Between 5 and 6 o'clock Bromley stepped into his plane amid loud cheers, and spent some time warming up the motor and inspecting the machine. There was considerable smoke from forest fires in the direction in which he was to fly and hardly a breeze, which even with the inclined runway would make rising difficult with the flier's load of 800 gallons of gasoline. The sun was also shining directly into his eyes.

SAW WHAT HAPPENED

"Painted orange with a long white arrow on either side the plane appeared to have a body made of thin wood. It had slotted wings with 'City of Tacoma' and N R 856 H painted on in large letters. Mr Eve and I were less than 100 yards from the runway so were in a position to see what transpired," said Mr Johnson.

"Bromley took off with a roar at 6 o'clock and gathered speed rapidly down the incline, although the plane did not rise as it should have. There was still little wind to aid in lifting the wings of the heavily-laden City of Tacoma.

"About 1,000 yards from the incline the plane suddenly left the dirt track, swerved sharply and landed with a sickening crash in the soft ground as Bromley throttled down the motor's roar.

A BAD SMASH

"The undercarriage collapsed with the exception of the small wheel used in place of a tail skid, the right wing crumpled and the nose of the plane ploughed into the ground, raising a cloud of black dust. The fuselage cracked in several places and gasoline spurted over the plane and pilot.

"Before the fire engine or patrol could reach the City of Tacoma, Bromley climbed out of the cockpit with a disappointed look upon his face, was lifted out of the plane and taken away by a nearby automobile. He was covered with gasoline to which the dust had adhered.

"A cordon of spectators formed around the plane and assisted police in keeping the crowd back as orders were given to prevent smoking. With all the gasoline splashed over the fuselage it was a wonder there was no fire.

"As far as Mr Eve and I could make out the plane was so badly smashed internally that it would be impossible to repair it," Mr Johnson concluded.

TOWN WAITS LONG FOR WATER

Fearing another outbreak of fever, the people of Derrygonnelly, Ireland, have petitioned the Northern Ministry of Home Affairs to compel Enniskillen Rural Council to give them the water supply for which they have waited many years. Fifteen years ago the town got a sewer system, but no water supply. The present supply comes from three wells which are polluted with surface water and cattle. One school has 150 children and no drinking water.

NEW DIAMOND FIELD FOR RICH

That the new diamond fields to the south and southeast of Johannesburg, South Africa, will not be a "poor man's" digging, is the opinion of C. He says that the gems cannot be sifted by hand, and expensive machinery will be required to work the land, which already is being called "New Namaqualand."

If the tenders were not opened suspicion was sure to rest upon some one. Alderman Litchfield stated he had set his face against racing without machines, and he considered it his duty to see that the association received fair treatment and also that the citizens were protected by the City Council.

Alderman Mara, who said they heard a great deal about the moral aspect, queried whether they were "playing the game" with the people who were putting in the tenders. Alderman Marchant pointed out that it was on the advice of the legal department that they had signed the agreement. He thought it was the wise and proper move to adopt the course he had suggested. After information regarding the legal position had been furnished by Mr. R. T. Elliott, city's counsel, the advertisement calling for the tenders was read and following that Alderman Marchant's amendment, those who voted in favor being: Aldermen Marchant, Litchfield, Adam, Woodward and Dewar, while those against were Aldermen Harvey, Worthington, Cullin, Mara and Mayor Anscomb.

More legal points were asked and more legal opinions given and then Alderman Adam moved that the motion adopted by the council two weeks ago be rescinded. This resulted again in a tie vote and another deadlock. While they were thinking over the matter Alderman Mara moved that the letter from Mr. Foot which had been read to them be received and filed.

By this time the aldermen had got their second wind and Alderman Cullin moved that they open the tenders and see what they are. There did not appear to be any supporters and Mayor Anscomb said that the matter was of vital importance and should not be rushed, but a solution must be found.

Consultation with the legal officers ensued and then Alderman Woodward moved the resolution which, after being edited by the legal officers present, was adopted, the Mayor being the only one to vote against it.

Throughout the neighboring states there is a lot of work going on in the relocating of sections of road where these have been found to be off the proper location in the first instance. Changes are being made, particularly in the cases where reverse curvatures renders the situation dangerous, creating better loops to be described in the route of the automobile.

It was noted by the Premier that in the handling of the traffic on the other side, there was the most absolute control exercised by those in authority. This made for increased safety.

In the carrying out of the inspection there were no union rules observed as to hours. A start was made as early as 6 o'clock in the morning and kept up as long as inspection could be carried out.

It has been the hope of Mr Hill that in addition to the Pacific Highway, in the construction of which he has had such an important part, there should be a loop provided on the Pacific slope so that the trip might be made north and south by alternate lines, one close to the Pacific Coast and the other through the interior of the country, which would give the tourist a complete change of scenery. He is still working on this proposition, and hopes to see it carried into execution.

CRITICS NOT SEVERE ON GALSWORTHY PLAY

LONDON, July 29.—"Exiled," John Galsworthy's new play, which was produced at Wyndham's Theatre recently by Leon M. Lion, actor, playwright and play producer, "is not, in a sense, a good play," says E. A. Baughan, dramatic critic, "nor is it one of John Galsworthy's best." Yet, Mr Baughan confesses that it entertained him and he liked the spirit of it—"even the quiet end which comforts us with the thought that if England's body is mouldering in the grave her soul goes marching on." He adds that this is the meaning of the play, but it is lightly emphasized by Mr Galsworthy.

"The spirit of 'Exiled' is to some extent the spirit of 'Strife,'" says Mr Baughan, "but in this latest drama there is only one scene in which for a moment the question of capital and labor becomes dramatic. It is when Sir John Mazer, 'a king of industry,' tells a number of unemployed miners that he had to close the pit which they had worked because it did not pay. He expresses the point of view of 'big business' with logical force, and does so because he believes the miners suspect that Sir Charles Denbury's horse has been injured by a tramp so that Mazer's may win a local race. The dispute, which becomes quite exciting, is suddenly ended by Mazer promising to give all he might win to the miners.

"I don't believe for a moment that they would have been content with that offer. But the play does not pretend to go deeply into the question of unemployment. It is entertaining, however, for the simple reason that John Galsworthy has not been afraid of making his characters amusing theatrical types.

"In fact, 'Exiled' will be successful, mainly because there are many effective character sketches and because they are acted with a finish that does credit not only to the players but also to the producer of the play."

PLEADS FOR THOUGHTFUL DEMOCRACY

Perley, Dominion member for Argenteuil. For General McRae, the Conservative chieftain had warm words of appreciation.

LAUDS GENERAL McRAE

"I owe much to him," the Opposition leader observed, "because of his acceptance of the great responsibility of chief whip of the Conservative party and the time he has so freely devoted to the interests of the country."

General McRae declared the women electors of the country were rapidly awakening to the importance of their franchise. The Conservative party was endeavoring to work out a programme of development which would bring prosperity to Canada from the Maritime Provinces to British Columbia. Canada had the resources, the womanhood and manhood, and what she required was a national development.

Sir George Perley said that, speaking from his experience of twenty-five years in the public life of this country, he had never encountered a man more fitted to lead the Government of the country than Mr. Bennett. Recalling his association with General McRae, Sir George remarked that "in the Great War while he was a quartermaster-general, he was on my staff, and now I am on his staff."

ESSENTIAL CITIZENSHIP

Mr Bennett declared that in a young democracy like Canada the exercise of citizenship was a great responsibility. It was essential that our problems should be viewed on an all-Canadian angle.

"View our problems on a broad general national viewpoint," Mr Bennett pleaded.

"Your vote has a national influence because your Parliament at Ottawa deals with national questions affecting all Canadians. So it is we must try to detach ourselves from local viewpoints and think of this country as a whole, realizing our responsibilities.

"This vast heritage we hold in trust, not for ourselves only, but for generations to come. This is a rich estate, the variety of which men do not yet appreciate."

NATURAL RESOURCES

Mr Bennett then referred to our mineral and forest resources from Cape Breton to the Pacific Coast.

"Here is this vast estate which we must think of in terms of the morrow and of the men and women who come after us," Mr. Bennett said, "so that when they come into possession we will not have exploited it."

ROYAL AUTO WITH BATH

When the Nawab of Bhopal takes his royal bath while on auto tours he will use his auto bathroom, which just has been made for him. Mounted on an auto chassis, the equipment consists of a full-size bath tub, dressing table, bed, and a chest of drawers. The water for the bath will be heated by the exhaust from the engine of the car.

HUNTER USES "MERCY BULLET"

Wild animals are to be captured painlessly for the zoo at Pretoria, Transvaal. Authorities have commissioned Captain Burnett Harris, inventor of the "mercy bullet," to carry out the work. The bullet contains drugs and is equivalent to a hypodermic needle. The animal which receives it will feel no more pain than if it were brushed by a thorn.

FIRE MENACE IS SERIOUS IN ONTARIO

Largest Fire-Fighting Force Ever Mobilized Now Trying to Stop Advance of Fierce Blaze

DRASTIC RULES BEING ENFORCED

TORONTO, July 29.—Ontario is facing the greatest forest fire menace since 1923, and the largest force ever mobilized by the province to fight fires is already combatting outbreaks at widely-scattered points, Hon. W. Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, announced here tonight. Twelve hundred men are fighting from land and all the available airplanes of the Ontario Forestry Patrol are being employed. Mr. Finlayson announced that drastic regulations were being put into force to prevent further outbreaks. Some districts have been closed to prospectors and tourists, and the Department of Lands and Forests is preparing to close others.

Serious fire conditions existed today in the Kenora, Rainy River, Patricia and Chippewa Park districts of Northwest Ontario.

CONTROLLED IN MONTANA

MISSOULA, Mont., July 29.—Forestry officials considered the fire situation in Montana well under control today. The big fire on the Blackfoot had been trenched.

INDIAN SAGE IS FRIENDLY TO DOMINION

Returns Home Firm Friend of Canada—Had Been Touched With His Splendid Reception

FOUND INTEREST TAKEN IN INDIA

TOKIO, Japan, July 20.—Dr. Rabindranath Tagore, leader of the intelligenzia of India, who recently visited Vancouver and Victoria as delegate from India to the National Council of Education, is returning home a confirmed friend of Canada.

The eminent poet-philosopher, who cut short his stay in the United States following his visit to British Columbia, on account of the antipathetic sentiment he claimed to have encountered there, expressed the utmost pleasure at the reception given him in Canada.

Dr. Tagore recalled that in the Dominion he was treated as the unofficial ambassador of the Indian people. He added that he had been profoundly touched by the splendid welcome given him by both officials and people when he toured Canada as the guest of the Government. He had observed, Dr. Tagore said, that great interest has begun to be taken in Indian culture by people in Canada and serious minded persons.

Dr. Tagore's visit to Canada has aroused much enthusiasm among the youth of the Dominion for the study of Far Eastern countries in the opinion of Professor A. K. Chandra, of Calcutta University, who is accompanying Dr. Tagore. Japan has always given a most cordial welcome to the great Indian poet on the several occasions that he has visited this country. Because of poor health just now he has been forced to leave this country for India sooner than he wished.

Auto Hits Pole; Telegraph Wire Goes on Rampage

OSHAWA, Ont., July 29.—(By the Canadian Press)—Some little time ago a passing motorist hit a telegraph pole in this city, but must have suffered little damage as he went his way without reporting the accident. Coincidently the automatic telegraph printer, through which the Canadian Press furnishes a full news service to The Oshawa Daily Times, started curious antics. Quite regularly it started in about 11 o'clock each morning mixing up signals and furnishing harrassed editors with a report mostly "pi," in the language of the printshop, but late in the afternoon would return to "normalcy" and deliver perfect copy. A curious feature was the same signals transmitted from Toronto over the identical wire to The Kingston Whig-Standard went through without interruption.

This condition continued day by day to the exasperation of all concerned. Both the Canadian Pacific's Telegraph, from whom the wire was leased, and the Canadian Press sent experts down to Oshawa to locate the trouble, but after checking all the mechanical and wire equipment, could only report it was a mystery. Finally the pole struck by the peccant motorist was examined. It had been thrown out of alignment sufficiently to slacken the wires it carried, among these being the local wire off the main lead into The Times office. Copper wires expand with heat and about 11 o'clock as the sun became hot this wire dropped a fraction more till it made contact with a wire below, establishing a short circuit. As the day cooled off this contact was released and until next forenoon the wire worked like a bell.

To prove his contention against the popular belief that arsenic poisoning can be absorbed through the skin, Professor Walker Hall, the distinguished English toxicologist, faced death recently. He rubbed a fatal dose of arsenic over his hand and waited a half-hour for the result. Nothing happened, so he repeated the experiment and proved his theory.

Nine Inches of Arm Saves Boy From Drowning

A five-year-old boy in Toronto escaped death by nine inches, the length of an arm seen by two men as the boy disappeared beneath the waves beside the slip at the foot of Spadina Avenue.

The boy was Jimmy Sparks, 943 Bathurst Street. He was seen and rescued by Lloyd and E. N. Nourse, 24 Nursewood Road, after he had slid into the water from a pile of sand on the dock. The two men, seeing one of the child's arms as he sank, plunged in and carried him to safety.

Little the worse for his experience the lad was taken to the main life-saving station and from there taken to the Hospital for Sick Children by police.

For seven hours after he had been drawn from the water, the child was unable to tell his name or address, and was kept at the hospital unidentified, waiting for the parents to announce him as lost. Finally, at 8:30, police were told of the identity.

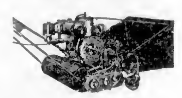

The child had wandered alone from his home to the foot of Spadina Avenue and out on the dock, police believed, although the lad at first said that a brother had fallen into the water too. This statement gave rise to fears that another child might have been drowned, but fears were proved groundless.

A movement to have city children know as much about London as their country cousins has been started in London.

Do you appreciate the wonderful country around Victoria? The miles of beaches? The acres of shady parks? Well, get out and enjoy them while you can. You owe it to the children.

Of course, the Mother tied to a coal stove can't get away.

If she does, the fire will be out when she comes back, the children will be crying for supper, and—"Oh, well, it's not worth it."

Lucky is the mother who has Rockgas to cook with. No fuss, no bother; the meal is cooking while she is away. And when she comes back everything is ready, as though she had been home all day, and everybody is happy.

And cheap, too; that's the best of it—cheaper than coal. Visit our showrooms and see for yourself.

AID TO BE GIVEN SHOW

Government Assistance to New Westminster Fair Contingent on Self Help—Mammoth Tent Planned

TO STAGE DISPLAY UNDER CANVAS

If the management of the New Westminster Fair decides to carry on this season again, the provincial Government will lend assistance to make the event a success. The assistance will be conditional upon the city itself coming to the aid and contributing at least an equal amount.

This was to have been celebrated as the jubilee year of the Royal Agricultural and Industrial Society's Fair, and in keeping with this idea, it was decided to make a special showing. It had been in the mind of the Government of the province to come to the aid of the exhibition in its jubilee year, and assist its supporters of that fair in making it something outstanding.

Now that ill luck has overtaken the management, the Government feels that if the people of New Westminster and surrounding country are prepared to face the situation and put over the exhibition in spite of the handicap, that assistance along the line of the original intention of the Government will be forthcoming. This will mean that something over the regular grant will be advanced for the present year's fair.

In facing the situation the management of the fair are planning to obtain the use of a mammoth tent which will cover an area of five acres. This will be used as the main centre for the exhibits.

It is now practically decided to forego the idea of attempting anything in the way of reconstruction of permanent buildings for this year. By using the tent, and some other temporary quarters, it is hoped to carry through the plans for 1929. As to the future plans that will be faced after the present season is over, the management will then take into account all the various aspects of the situation, including that of the proposed amalgamation with the Vancouver Fair.

TWO COMPANIES MAKE SETTLEMENT

Difficulties Between West Kootenay and Granby Power Concerns Adjusted About Rates

An amicable adjustment of the difficulties between the West Kootenay Power Company and the Granby Mining and Smelting Company appears to have been reached. The clash between the companies was based upon the rates charged the Granby Company for the operations being carried on at Copper Mountain, Allenby.

With the filing of rates as required by the legislation of last session the West Kootenay Company in the first instance did not include the rates governing the Allenby works.

These rules have recently been filed with the Water Branch of the Department of Lands, as required, which indicates that a settlement along this line has evidently been reached which will be agreeable to both sides. The question in dispute between these two companies were aired rather freely at the last session of the legislature when the amending act of the West Kootenay was going through the private bills committee.

The Granby Company raised objection to amendments unless there was certain restrictions put upon the power company, which would give the Granby organization better rates than were being obtained. Before the legislation went through the House, however, matters reached a stage where it appeared likely that the two companies would get together and reach an amicable settlement without the intervention of legislative or executive action.

This seems to have been carried out, although the Granby company has still the opportunity of objecting to the rates, which are set out in the schedule filed with the water comptroller.

MAYOR WELCOMES SEATTLE SINGERS

Over Three Hundred Members of North Pacific Saenderband Sing in Chamber of Commerce

Mayor Herbert Anscomb yesterday welcomed 350 singers, composed of fourteen different choruses from Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Bellingham, Chehalis, Everett, Spokane and Walla Walla. The visitors are of the North Pacific Saenderbund, which has been holding its eleventh "Sangerfest," or "singing festival," in Seattle during the last few days. They are mainly composed of United States citizens of German extraction, and gave two concerts in Seattle during the Sangerfest, the first at the Masonic Temple and the second in the stadium of the University of Washington.

Yesterday afternoon they arrived in Victoria to enjoy the sights of this city, and marched from the boat, headed by their president, Mr Charles Ganer, of Seattle, to the Chamber of Commerce, where they were welcomed by Mayor Anscomb, Aldermen William Cullin and John Worthington, Mr. David Leeming, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and Mr. C P Hill. Here they sang two beautiful numbers, "The Lord's Day" and "In the Forest," led by their conductor, Mr Hermann Hafner, of Tacoma.

After leaving the chamber, the party went on a sightseeing tour round Victoria, and returned to Seattle by the 4 30 p m steamer.

WINNIPEGGER HEADS GYRO

MR. GORDON STOVEL ELECTED INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT AT MADISON PARLEY

Mr. Vernon Lilley Tells Local Club of Meeting—Mr. Alex. Lord Speaks of B.C. Pioneers

Gyro Gordon Stovel, of Winnipeg, was chosen president of Gyro International for 1929-1930, and Gyro Jack Northey, of Toronto, was elected vice-president at the recent Gyro Convention at Madison, Wis., Mr Vernon Lilley, of Long Beach, Cal., told members of the local Gyro Club yesterday at their luncheon meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe. Next year's international convention will take place in Tacoma.

Mr Lilley, who is lieutenant-governor of Gyro District No. 9, is on his way back to Long Beach after attending the Madison parley, where over 400 delegates from Gyro Clubs in Canada and the United States were in session. The meeting was the biggest and best yet held in International Gyro, he said. Mr. Lilley tendered greetings from the Gyro Club of Long Beach, which was sponsored by the Victoria Gyro Club in 1923.

Stirring tales of pioneers of British Columbia were related by Mr Alexander Lord, teacher of geography at the Normal School in Vancouver and instructor in the same subject at the Provincial Summer School here, in a brief address to the clubmen. He spoke of the importance of geography and said the proper manner to study the subject was to study the people of the various countries of the world and their customs. He sketched the work of early settlers in the Province and emphasized the value of their contribution to the development and progress of the country. He was heartily thanked for his interesting discourse.

Gyro John Fuller stated that between fifty and sixty Gyros and Gyrettes had thus far intimated their intention of participating in the big Inter-Gyro Clubs picnic, which will be held next Sunday at Rathtrevor Beach, twenty miles north of Nanaimo. Members of the Nanaimo, New Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria Clubs will join in this outing.

The clubmen greatly enjoyed the vocal songs rendered by Mr J. S Manson, who is attending the Summer School here.

Gyro Richard Wilson, a new member of the club, was given a hearty welcome upon being introduced by President Harry Dawson.

NOTED AUTHOR TO WRITE ON CANADA

Col. Alex. Powell Is Collecting Material for Work to Foster International Understanding

With the intention of gathering local color for a book on Canada, to be written with the object of establishing a better understanding between this country and the United States, Colonel Alexander Powell, the well-known American author, accompanied by his wife and daughter, is making a complete tour of the Dominion, and arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Colonel Powell arrived in Nova Scotia two months ago, and, on his way across Canada, met Premier Mackenzie King. He plans to leave on Ss Princess Charlotte tomorrow upon a visit to the Yukon.

Colonel Powell has had an interesting career, and has seen service in Syria, Egypt, Central Asia, the Caucasus, the Sudan and South Africa. He was the only correspondent officially attached to the Belgian forces during the early stages of the late war.

Soviet Air Men to Set Out on Flight

NEW YORK, July 29.—Announcement from a reception committee formed here to greet them, said four Soviet airmen would set out this week in the monoplane, Land of the Soviet, on a 12,000-mile hop eastward from Moscow to New York via the North Pacific route.

President James A. Edgerton, of the Ultra-Dry Jefferson-Lincoln League, was talking about diplomacy.

"Diplomats are human," he said. "You might almost call them feminine. In their feminine way they say the most frightful things to one another, and that is how wars are caused.

"Diplomats remind me of the two ladies. The first lady called at the second lady's house, but the maid said:

"'My mistress is not at home, madam.'

"'Ha, ha, ha! Please tell her,' laughed the caller, 'that when I saw her peeping from the parlor window I was so afraid she was'"

CANADA AND SOVIET RUSSIA

There is no indication as yet what attitude this country will take towards the resumption of official trade relations with Soviet Russia. When the Baldwin Government was in power in Britain Mr. Mackenzie King saw no reason why there should be any change in attitude towards the Dominion's relations with the Soviet Government. Nothing has happened since to suggest any desirability of a rapprochement. On the other hand, Soviet propaganda for revolutionary purposes has been uncovered in some parts of Canada, which would argue that the official determination of the country not to have diplomatic ties with Moscow should be strengthened.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald is anxious to bring about closer relations between Britain and Soviet Russia. He claims to have secured legal advice to the effect that diplomatic relations between the two countries have never been severed. That may be technically true, but there are no respective ambassadors at Moscow and London, nor have there been for some years, which would suggest an official admission that there have been no diplomatic relations in accord with international usage as between the two countries. Premier MacDonald is consulting the Overseas Dominions on their attitude towards Russia. Mr. Mackenzie King may have replied to the British Government, but he has yet to inform the people of Canada what that reply is. They are naturally interested inasmuch as it is their viewpoint which is alleged to be interpreted. There should be nothing to conceal about a matter of this kind and the people of the Dominion are entitled to know what is the interpretation put on their attitude just as soon as the British Government is informed to that effect. The letter has made no secret of its viewpoint. Why should Canada?

NEW ECONOMIC ALIGNMENTS

The Federal idea was very popular fifty years ago. The Americans during the first half of the 'sixties had demonstrated the fact that a federation may be a strong thing. The result of their Civil War served as an answer to the predictions of foreign statesmen of that day who believed that the dissolution of the union was inevitable. Gladstone, Lord John Russell and the Earl of Shrewsbury all shared this belief, and Freeman, the historian, inscribed on the title page of one of his books: "History of Federal Government from the foundation of the Achaean League to the disruption of the United States."

In 1867 the Dominion of Canada was established on the Federal principle. The Germans, a few years later, resolved to organize their kingdoms, principalities and duchies into an empire on the Federal system. It is not surprising that political theorists began to compete with each other in drafting an ideal Federal constitution for the British Empire. There was an Imperial Federation League, very active and earnest for a number of years. The problem, however, was beset with difficulties so numerous and formidable that the project was abandoned. Many people were willing to go in for improved postal and cable communication and greater exchange of Empire products, but beyond that there was little agreement. A safer, less ambitious, more leisurely policy was adopted and the logic of events determined the character of our inter-Imperial relations.

Certain statesmen and publicists are now talking about a United States of Europe. The difficulties in the way are even more formidable than those of Imperial federation, but these difficulties do not at present occupy the attention of the advocates of the scheme. They are too busy pointing out its advantages. They insist that the present economic preponderance of the United States is not due to natural physical advantages over Europe, that the soil of Europe is on the whole richer than that of the United States, that land and water are far better distributed for human purposes in Europe, that the vast arid areas of America are absent in the older continent, that while the Great Lakes are ice-bound for several months, the Mediterranean is not, and that the European water system is better adapted for transportation.

Mr Norman Angell lays great stress on the fact that if the history of English-speaking North America had been like that of South America, if there had come into existence in what is now the United States a dozen rival nations as in Spanish-speaking South America, there would have been no American predominance today. A political fact, which gave rise to an economic one, explains that predominance, in his opinion, and the political fact is, of course, political unity. Mr. Angell does not propose that Britain should become part of the proposed European union. She is to aid in the process of unification, but is not to become involved to the extent of entanglement. She should hold herself free to co-operate with the Americans, if necessary, to place a veto upon dangerous European movements, or act as candid friend to the United States in the event of that Power assuming a dictatorial attitude in world affairs.

In the meantime, however, the chief real indications of a tendency to European unification are the formation of some international trusts and a tendency to common action on the part of bankers. Neither economic nor political union is likely to occur in Europe for many a year to come. The significant fact is that new alignments are being generally discussed. Chief of these, from our own point of view, is that which looks to a better organization of trade within the League of Nations that we know most about, namely, the British Empire. While visionaries amuse themselves with paper constitutions for Europe, we had better get on with our own proper task of developing the Empire.

A GREAT FLYING BOAT

Germany is to follow up her triumph in winning the blue riband of the Atlantic with the Bremen by an experiment with the largest flying boat ever built. It is the D.O.X., which has been under construction for two and a half years and is now completed. It has a wing span of nearly 160 feet, a length of 130 feet and stands 33 feet high. It is equipped with twelve 525 horse power engines mounted in tandem above the wings. The total engine capacity will be nearly twice that of the Graf Zeppelin. The maximum speed aimed at is 155 miles an hour with a cruising speed of 120 miles. The flying boat will carry 120 passengers on short flights of 620 miles, and sixty passengers on longer flights. It has three decks. The lowest contains the fuel storage compartments; the middle deck the passenger cabins and salons, and the upper deck the navigation room, engine control station, pilot's cabin and quarters for the crew. The route which it will be flown is not yet determined.

A writer in The London Sunday Express is succinct at least in his advice to those who want to recover lost, or preserve slipping figures—in other words, to reduce or prevent fatness. He says: "If you are between forty and sixty rise earlier, drink hot water on rising, move about more, cut the daily intake of food by one-third, and then half; drink plenty of cold water between meals, and don't drink with meals. Under forty do the same thing, but add regular hard exercise, beginning with brisk walks, and rising to a five-mile run-and-walk (say an hour and a half) every day. And remember that the Irish priest who told his flock to 'sweat once a day and be happy' knew more than the Harley Street specialists who charge fifty guineas for taking off seven pounds in a month by diet, medicine and electrical vibrators."

In Britain in three months of the year a sum of £21,460,000 was paid in death duties. Such a huge amount means that British Government and municipal securities are thrown on the market, and this is interpreted to be one of the causes why there has been a recent serious drop in the price of gilt-edged securities. One result of this is that the cost of public and private borrowing has been increased and thus an extra burden has been laid on the country and its trade. Death duties, as they are called in Britain, and succession duties as they are called in this province, have a depressing effect on business conditions. It is an iniquitous tax wherever imposed, for it means that a country is living on its capital instead of on the interest which that capital accumulates while at work.

COWIE KIRK

From this old chapel's ruined walls,
From ivy trees and sea-birds' calls,
Between two sun and rainbow gleams
I walked into a world of dreams

Where travelers stained and tempest tossed
Muttered me news of battles lost,
And children in a house awake
Whimpered to hear the rafters shake,
Heard through the pit-e-pat of rain
Tramp, tramp, the horse of highway men'

A table spread with linen fine,
Cups, cakes, and bread and winking wine,
Empty until three white moths came
To swing about the candle's flame.

And a small women in a glass
Laughing to see her shadow pass;
Wee women did I dream your dreams
Between two sun and rainbow gleams,

Your prayers, your gallant hopes, your fears
Blown backward down the windy years
To this old chapel by the sea,
Where once you told your rosary.

—Marion Angus in The Scots Observer.

WONDER AND FAITH

Leave me my faith and my wonder,
Master of stern debate,
Give me large room for my loving
'Midst the machine and my Fate.

Grant me the gifts of your logic;
Make of my fears but a wraith,
But, when the process is over,
Leave me my wonder and faith.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

There is an old saying, "Give the devil his due." There should be a new saying, "Give the weather man his due." There are many people who affect to sneer at the predictions of the weather man, and there are but few people ready to admit that the weather man is more frequently right than wrong in his predictions. A few months ago one of the weather men predicted that the current Summer would be extremely hot and very dry.

* * *

Many people in this part of the world who read that prediction commented upon it with scorn. They said that if the weather man intended to give us an extremely hot and very dry Summer he would have to make haste about "delivering the goods," for the Summer was already far spent and there were no indications in the heavens above or on the earth beneath of a period of heat or drouth. But if we have not had a hot and dry Summer here, if our Summer has been if anything a trifle cool and slightly wetter than usual, the weather has been hot enough and dry enough in almost all other parts of our own country and in almost all parts of other countries in the world north of the equator.

* * *

In the matter of the weather as well as in most other matters, it is not safe to generalise from special instances. One of the most attractive of the circumstances of Victoria—and when we speak of Victoria's climatic circumstances we include in our observations and comments all the districts surrounding the city—is that it specializes in climatic conditions. There is no climate quite like ours anywhere else upon earth that we know anything about. And one of the charms of our special climate is that it varies considerably in different parts of the city and a great deal in the districts within a few miles of the city's boundaries. If it is very cool in the parts of the city poised on the heights along the seashore it may be quite warm enough in some of the districts adjacent to the city to satisfy the craving for warmth of people from the Sunny South or from the Indies.

* * *

Another of the climatic charms of Victoria is that if the temperature is occasionally variable, it is always reliable; it is hardly ever cold enough to warrant the wearing of furs, except under the arbitrary decrees of fashion; it is never warm enough to warrant editors of or contributors to the newspapers to parade the streets clothed only in pajamas. We feel quite safe in saying that no Victoria editor or contributor ever will be arrested and haled before the courts to explain why he (or she, for that matter) was guilty of making such an unseemly display of his person and his wardrobe.

* * *

We do not know whether The Colonist made a news note of the fact that the editor of a certain American paper was arrested and charged with parading the streets dressed in his night attire and nothing more. Of course the offender was acquitted by the courts; but we have not yet noticed that the precedent he established has also established a new fashion and that the wearing of pajamas in broad sunlight has become general in the United States. The fact is that men are just as abject slaves of fashion or convention as women, and there will be no radical change in the clothes worn by men until the Prince of Wales sets an example.

* * *

In any event the weather man was not so far astray when he made a general, not a specific, prediction that the current Summer would be extremely hot and very dry. The Summer has been so hot and so dry in the Western parts of Canada that it has banished all hopes of another great crop of wheat. And yet the abnormal state of the weather does not appear to have depressed the spirits of anybody in Canada. Neither does it appear to have affected the state of business throughout the country. For notwithstanding the unusual state of the weather, there are compensating circumstances. Because of the abundant harvests of previous years, there remained a large surplus of wheat in storage, and a surplus of wheat in the elevators is even more to be desired than a surplus of cash in the banks, for when the crop is short the values of the crop are high, whereas the rate of interest upon a surplus of cash in the banks varies but little. The wheat in storage is said to be worth millions of dollars more than it would have brought if placed upon the market immediately after it was harvested.

* * *

There are other reasons for the cheerfulness of Canadians under what appear to be somewhat depressing circumstances. The agricultural industry is no longer the only industry of Western Canada. Our people no longer carry all their eggs in a market basket. Owing to power development and mineral discoveries Western Canada has become an important manufacturing country and a most important mining country. Mining in British Columbia was never so active as at the present time, and in the northern parts of Canada from Quebec west to this Province new railways are being built for the special purpose of opening up and developing new mining regions.

"TOO OLD AT FORTY"

Sir,—Many of your readers must have been shocked and amazed at the ill-mannered statements attributed to Mr. John Kyle, when he spoke at a recent meeting of the Gyro Club. To condemn any man because he is old is somewhat below the average intelligence required by a public servant, in fact, we are surprised that the Department of Education allows any official to make such statements. Any servant of the public, especially a Department of Education official, should rather respect and reverence people who have reached the alloted span of "three score years and ten."

Surely we have reached a stage in individual thought when anyone who opposes another's ideas should at least be given a sympathetic hearing. Not so with Mr. Kyle; evidently anyone who is not in favor of technical education as he propounds it, is anathema. The expression of this materialistic spirit by an education official, and presumably an educated man, is one of the strongest arguments in favor of blocking his propaganda.

THE MYSTERY OF PRICES

Sir,—About twelve months back there was an outcry about the depletion of salmon and its extinction. Up went the price. This week I read that British Columbia has had its record production and excelled all previous catches both in quantity and revenue. The price does not drop. Three weeks back, by reports, a near famine was to be expected in wheat. Manufacturers forced the marked up, big fortunes were made, the master bakers considered the raising of the price of bread. Some did raise it and today we find the price dropping and reports of selling out the previous year's crops stored in bulging elevators. This time last year, by reports, our local apple crop was a failure; yet last Fall apples were a drug on the market and the price lower than ever. Why all this deceit? The cost of meat is soaring to prohibitive prices, yet I read lately that beef on the hoof was sold in Calgary at 3 cents a pound.

A TOURIST'S IMPRESSIONS

Sir,—There was an article of criticism in The Colonist the other morning by a visitor from Los Angeles, Cal., complaining about the employees of the sightseeing companies stopping and pestering him on his way from the C.P.R. wharf to the Empress Hotel. He thought it disgraceful and, no doubt will continue to complain. May I, a visitor also from Los Angeles, who has been here a month on vacation and will be staying another month, give my impressions of Victoria and also answer the above complaint.

I, too, have been asked by these same gentlemen to take these trips, but always in a courteous manner, and had it not been for their advice and booklets, would have missed many of the interesting places in Victoria and Island.

In Los Angeles we have the salesmen for real estate and oil wells all pestering the people to take free rides, while women stand at nearly every entrance in the city pushing leaflets in front of you to take free rides, so that our friend ought to remember to clean his own house before casting reflection upon his neighbor.

During my stay in Victoria all my dealings with business men, salespeople and public officials have been most pleasant, yet while giving praise where due, may I point out two things that mar the beauty of your city—the unsightly boulevards from Hudson's Bay Company along Douglas Street and Gorge Road, and the smoke nuisance. Don't let the visitors go away with all the beautiful things they have seen and 100 per cent courtesy extended to them, marred by these two unpleasant sights that could be easily remedied.

Today I had the pleasure of visiting one of your big industries, the British American Paint Company, and while I have visited numerous other paint factories throughout the U.S.A., I must say you have a real, modern, up-to-date plant, turning out products equal to the best I have used or bought in my thirty years of business. Mr Pendray was most courteous, and one of the chemistry staff gave me three hours of valuable time, going through each department very carefully.

It is these acts of kindness that advertise a city, and visitors to any land can always leave their reflections behind.

A BENEFIT CONCERT

Sir,—The dangers and hardships run by "those who go down to the sea in ships" are proverbial, but even worse are those that have to be faced by those who go under the sea in ships, and the history of the submarine and its development is full of tragic disasters. The British navy has had more than its share of these terrible accidents, and now we have just read of yet another—the sinking by collision with another submarine of H47, and the loss of nearly all her crew.

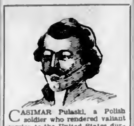

In war time the loss of life is faced, if not exactly callously, at all events with more resignation than one feels when similar losses occur in the piping times of peace. Granted that both are incurred in the course of duty, and in that course stoically endured. One expects it in war—it is inevitable, and it is "no good making a song about it." But when peacetime comes, and one reads of the loss of a whole ship's company, one seems more shocked by it; sympathy for the victims and their dependents wells up and overflows, and is nationwide. No where is that sympathy more keenly and promptly felt than in the navy itself; it always finds there its quickest and most wholehearted expression. The navy realizes at once in full degree the grief and hardships suffered by the wives and families of those left, and the warm-heartedness and generosity of the navy-man at once takes the shape of practical, concrete help—deeds, not words. He works and gives, quickly, to help alleviate the distress he knows so well will result.

The ship's company of the Colombo, the cruiser which is such a welcome visitor to Victoria at present, follows the naval tradition in this respect to the letter. Though it has no doubt done, and will do, things which it keeps to itself, it has come into the open too, by arranging to give a concert in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, July 30, the proceeds of which are to be given to the families of those lost in the sinking of Submarine H47. The ship's company of the Colombo asks us residents of Victoria to co-operate with them in making the concert a success, and the way we can co-operate is by coming to the show, and swelling the proceeds, the result being more for the sufferers by the disaster. Surely no object could be more excellent, no cause more worthy.

We here in Victoria are notoriously poor hands at co-operating in anything; we admit it ourselves. So let us see to it that this concert shall be the exception that proves the rule! For once in a way, at any rate, let us at least manage to do so with the Colombo's. Let us help them by turning up in full force on Tuesday evening, give them the encouragement and support they hope for and deserve, bearing in mind that the entertainment is being given for the grief-stricken dependents of those brave men who have paid the price of Admiralty in one of the saddest disasters that has happened in the navy since the war.

Jots From History

CASIMAR Pulaski, a Polish soldier who rendered valiant service to the United States during the Revolutionary War, was born in 1748. When but a mere boy he joined his father and brothers in a movement to free Poland from Russian rule, and was exiled to France. There Pulaski met Benjamin Franklin, who persuaded him to aid the Americans in their struggle for independence. Under Washington he organized a crack cavalry unit and was sent into the South. In 1779 at Savannah, during a British siege, he was wounded and taken aboard the Wasp, where he died.

Comptroller Has Returned From Interior Tour

Major J. C. MacDonald, Comptroller of Water Rights in the province, has returned from a trip to the Interior where he went into certain phases of the irrigation questions. This move was made in connection with the work of arriving at a settlement of the proper valuation of the lands coming under the irrigation scheme.

The water comptroller, together with the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and the Colonization Commissioner, compose a subcommittee which is making recommendations to the members of the Government along the line of adjusting the matter of irrigated land valuations.

The report, following the return of Major MacDonald, is expected to be made within a short time now.

AH, TREASURE NOW

Life flaunts such wealth of loveliness today
That Youth, the prodigal,
Would pluck it with both hands to fling away
In mood of carnival.

Can one bid Youth to clutch with eager grasp
At laughter, song and mirth,
To hold them captive as a miser's clasp,
For coming days of dearth?

Yet it were well to keep some petals still—
A kiss, a smile, a tear—
In memory secure against the chill
Of some far wintry year.

Ah, treasure now the fragrance and the bloom
That breathe on every side!
Keep them like rose leaves for time's scentless room,
When lovely Spring has died.

"Hans, did you hear the step-ladder fall?"
"Yes, mummy."
"I hope daddy hasn't fallen."
"Not yet—he is still hanging by his waistcoat to the picture hook."

TO VISIT KOOTENAYS

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Will Resume Investigation Into School Costs

Hon. J. Hinchliffe will leave in a short time for the Kootenays on a tour connected with the question of settling the taxation problem, as applied to school administration, on a more equitable basis. He will visit the principal points in the Interior, and confer with the members of the school boards and the city councils so as to ascertain just what the views of these bodies are on the subject. He will also take occasion to gather information from other public or semi-public bodies along the same line.

The trip of the minister will be along the same line as that made by him to the Okanagan a few months ago and which was continued on the Lower Mainland and on Vancouver Island.

It is the hope of Mr. Hinchliffe to have ready for the coming session of the Legislature enactments relating to the department over which he presides, that will make for the more equitable distribution of the burden which the support of the schools entails.

TYPO UNIONS HOLD PICNIC

Between Three and Four Hundred Gather at Goldstream Flats for Enjoyable Outing

POODLE DOG CAFE PRESENTS TROPHY

A gathering of between three and four hundred persons attended what proved to be the most successful annual picnic of the Vancouver Island Typographical Unions when the Victoria, Nanaimo and Duncan members congregated on Goldstream Flats on Sunday.

The day was given over to all kinds of field sports, and there was a most successful game of baseball between Victoria and Nanaimo, which the latter won 6-5. For this the Poodle Dog Cafe has presented a very handsome trophy, which will be competed for annually in the interests of the game. Another ball game was that between The Colonist and The Times which the latter won 8-5.

Among the novelty events, one which caused a great deal of amusement was the potato-peeling contest, in which the ladies fed the gentlemen. Among the priests was Mr E. J. Pelkey, who represented the Northwest district of the Typographical Union. It was not until 7.30 p.m. that the last bus left the ground with the last of tired but happy picnickers.

The committee in charge of the picnic arrangements was composed of J. Hough, chairman; J. D. Davidson, A. W. Stokes, R. Shields, A. Anderson, V. J. Baines, H. W. Curtis, F. Neelands and J. R. Begg.

The sports results were as follows:

25 Yards, Girls, under 8—1, Pearl Davidson; 2, Marian Sanborn. 2, W. Walker.

50 Yards, Boys, 12 and under—1, R. Baines; 2, R. Pollock.

100 Yards Girls, 16 and under—1, F. Schofield; 2, J. Reid; 3, R. Davidson.

75 Yards, Married Ladies—1, Mrs R. Shields; 2, Mrs. R. H. Pollock; 3, Mrs A. E. Reid.

Ladies' Special—1, Margaret Reid; 2, Jessie Reid; 3, E. Schofield.

100 Yards, Men (printers)—1, T. Pole; 2, R. Norris; 3, I. Donaldson.

100 Yards, Men, over 40—1, A. W. Stokes; 2, J. A. Skinner; 3, D. Clarke.

75-Yard Sack Race—1, A. Stokes, Jr., 2, T. Nute, 3, F. Elliott.

Popcorn-eating Contest—1, Mrs R. H. Pollock and Helen Pollock. 2, Mr. and Mrs J. D. Davidson.

Mr. Archie King, a union pensioner, was the only entry in the pensioners' race, and received the first prize.

The winning numbers in the tombola were 237, 238, 23

The tug-of-war was won by the Colonist—W. Norris, W. Spencer, R. Rastrick, A. Anderson, R. Ehbert, V. McTavish, A. Stokes, D. Clarke, A. Skillings.

Times—J. Riddell, S. Jenkins, L. Colton, I. Donaldson, R. Lawson, T. Nute, V. Baines, R. Shields, J. Rastrick.

Victoria—S. Jenkins, W. Spencer, L. Colton, R. Begg, R. Lawson, A. Anderson, J. Hough, W. Milligan.

Nanaimo—W. Norris, J. Riddell, A. Paul, W. Philpot, L. Sooth, F. Neave, R. Norris, J. Paul, J. Robertson.

AVIATION FIELD BEFORE COUNCIL

Chamber of Commerce Proposals Presented—Referred to Industries Committee

In accord with the discussion of the Chamber of Commerce directors at their meeting last week, to recommend to the City Council that it take initiative in providing proper landing places for airplanes and seaplanes, the following proposals from the chamber were presented to the City Council last night.

1—That the City Council be requested to take such steps as will provide Victoria with a proper airport, and that, failing this, general notification be given by the city that it would be dangerous for aviators to use the present licenced field for landing and taking off.

2—That the City Council be requested to follow up a report that there exists a possibility of an established seaplane concern in Seattle commencing a regular service between that city and Victoria, providing proper terminal facilities are installed in Victoria.

The council referred the matter to the industries committee.

Snow Mountain Is Total Loss On West Coast

A rescue at sea is reported from the west coast of the Island via Estevan, the fishing vessel being the tug Solander, and the rescued men being the crew of the North's Packing Company's steamer Snow Mountain.

On the evening of Thursday, July 18, the Solander, with Capt. Y. W. Riggs in command, while engaged in fishing duties for the Island Packing Company of the West Coast, noticed a vessel in difficulties about eight miles south of Estevan Point. All speed was promptly made to aid the sinking vessel, which in a few minutes after being first sighted began to send out distress signals. It was found on nearer approach to be the Snow Mountain, and the rescuing tug under Capt. Riggs' direction made every effort to save the vessel by towing her into Refuge Cove, Quadra Islet. The Snow Mountain sank, however, before she could be brought to safety, although the tug succeeded in taking off all the crew before the hull filled.

When the Queen of England recently laid the corner stone for the new Y.W.C.A. clubhouse in London the ceremonies were broadcast.

Continues Cruise South

After doing exceedingly well in the races of the San Francisco Yacht Club, Dr. John Harper has sailed his ketch, Fayth, from San Francisco to Wilmington, on the coast of Southern California.

Dr Harper left San Francisco on Wednesday at midnight and sailed from Santa Barbara on Saturday. Fayth is registered with the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and it is Dr. Harper's intention to sell her in California. It will be remembered that Dr. Harper sailed her the 700 miles from Cape Flattery to San Francisco recently in five and a half days.

Retiring Government Agent Praises Peace River Area

Mr. T. Fraser Believes Country in Northeast British Columbia has Great Future, as Settlers Increase, and Transportation Services Expand

"We will probably take up our residence in Victoria or Vancouver," said Mr Fred Fraser, who has just returned from the position of government agent at Pouce Coupe in the Peace River district, and who is now in the city; but he added, "I cannot keep away from the North, however, and I will spend a good part of my time there."

Mr. Fraser, after many years in the government service, was government agent at Pouce Coupe for ten years. He is succeeded by Mr. M. L. Morrell, formerly in the service of the government at Fort George.

The former representative of the government in the Northwestern part of British Columbia retains a very warm place in his affections for that country.

"It is the best part of British Columbia," he states and is prepared to defend the title against all comers. Residence over many years in all parts of the province has qualified him to set also as a very good judge in the matter.

MANY NEW SETTLERS

In the last eighteen months there have been 1,200 new settlers entered that district. Of them 40 per cent are from the United States. These are farmers for the most part, who have become discouraged with the conditions there, and have entered the Peace district with the idea of making a fresh start. In many cases they have brought little but their implements and stock, but they remained of the territory and are full of hope.

Mr Fraser says that these settlers, with their past experience on the land, will be of inestimable advantage in connection with the still greater rush that will follow. They are accustomed to the situation and are qualified to act as educators to the Canadian pioneers later.

"There has never been a failure in the crop in that district," said Mr. Fraser.

Added to this, he points out the fact that the taxes are low, and the soil is good, so that there is a continuous period of good crops to be looked forward to.

This year the wheat crop will average from twenty-five to thirty bushels to the acre. Under the conditions following the rains, the farmers will be better off this season than they were last year.

This is due to the fact that the prices promise to be higher and the facilities for the getting of the grain out are better.

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION

Dealing with the matter of transportation Mr. Fraser said that when he went in to that country there were only seven automobiles and no trucks to serve the country about Pouce Coupe. Now the situation is radically different. There are now 198 automobiles and fifty-two trucks.

The haul from Pouce Coupe to the railhead is only forty-five miles. These trucks will take from eighty to a hundred bushels of grain at a load. Two trips a day are made by the trucks through the system of keeping them running practically continuously, the drivers relieving one another.

The hauling can be kept up during the Winter and in this connection Mr. Fraser speaks in high terms of the action of the Department of Public Works last Winter in providing for a snow plow which kept the road open.

The fall of snow is not very heavy, and it is only when drifting comes that it is a hindrance. Even with the snow ploughs, Chinooks are frequent, and the trouble of hauling out the grain is now very much simplified.

The action of the Government last Winter meant that 60,000 bushels more wheat was taken out than would otherwise have been the case.

The settlers, he says, are looking forward to extensions of the roads without delay. Such a policy will be materially assist in the development of the country.

DR. PRICE WILL CONDUCT FOUR SERVICES HERE

Announcement is made that the meetings set for the evangelist, Dr. C. S. Price and his party on Wednesday and Thursday will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 3 and 7.30 o'clock each day.

On the occasion Dr. Price is accompanied by his three daughters, and his soloist, Miss Carrell.

KEEN SPORTSMAN PASSES TO HIS REST

Mr. C. Blythman Was Lawn Tennis Champion of Saskatchewan for Five Years

The death occurred yesterday morning at his home, 46 Dallas Avenue, of Mr. Clement Blythman, aged 55. He was the son of the late Rev. Arthur Blythman, of Shennington, Oxford, and had come to Canada as a young man. Most of his life was spent at Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, where he was one of the pioneers. He had also been a pioneer in the Yukon District, having been there in 1898 before the Klondyke gold discoveries.

The late Mr. Blythman was a keen sportsman. He was an accomplished shot, and a tennis player with a long record of success, having been champion of Saskatchewan for five years. His interest in tennis was maintained to the end.

He leaves a widow, one brother and two sisters in Canada, and one brother and two sisters in England. The funeral will take place at 2 p.m. on Friday from McNall's Funeral Parlors to the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Obituary

SAITO—The funeral of Noburu Saito, one year and eight months old, daughter of Mr and Mrs Saito, of 818 Pleyard Street, took place yesterday afternoon, July 29, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and a very large gathering of friends were in attendance and there was a profusion of beautiful flowers. The remains will be forwarded to Seattle this afternoon.

STEWART—There passed away on Sunday evening at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Christabel Neale Stewart, aged thirty-one years, beloved wife of Stanley Stewart, and eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fox, of 1114 Balmoral Road (the latter is mourned by her husband, one daughter, Hermenilla, her mother and father and three sisters, Misses Grace and Hilda at home, and Mrs J. Moreno, of Los Angeles, Cal. The remains are resting at A. J. Sims Funeral Home. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

OAM—The funeral of the late Quon Gam, of 533 Pleyard Street, will be held from the Thomson Funeral Home today at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Chinese Cemetery.

POY—The funeral of the late Charlie Poy, of 818 Pleyard Street, was held from the Thomson Funeral Parlors yesterday at 11 o'clock. Interment was made in the Chinese Cemetery.

O'FARRELL—The death occurred on Friday, at 1480 Hillside Avenue, of Thomas P. O. O'Farrell, a native of Ireland, but resident in Canada for about forty years. The late Mr. O'Farrell was one of the old-timers of British Columbia having been one of the surveyors when the Canadian Pacific Railway located its route. The remains are reposing at the Thomson Funeral Home pending funeral arrangements, which will be announced later.

D. W. BURNETT TO CONSTRUCT ISLAND HOME

Messrs. Spurgin & Semeyn Have Designed Attractive Summer Residence for Owner of Gooch Island

COST IS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT $50,000

The growing popularity of the Gulf Islands as sites for Summer homes has seldom been better typified than by the purchase of Gooch Island, situated about four miles northeast of Sidney.

Here Mr. D. W. Burnett, contractor of this city, who has recently completed extensive alterations in the old north wing of the Empress Hotel, is about to erect to the design of Messrs. Spurgin & Semeyn, a large and most attractive Summer residence for Mr. Draper, the new owner of the island. The building will contain a living-room, a dining-room and six bedrooms, besides kitchen and usual offices and will cost about $50,000.

The design is simple and very attractive, the general plan being in the shape of a V, the apex of which is formed by a splendid sitting-room, measuring forty-eight feet by twenty-four feet. Spacious verandas will give the maximum of shade, and there will be a large sunroom.

Mr. Burnett has already fitted up a temporary camp for the workmen, and the excavating crew will leave for the island on Monday. A copious water supply has been found, and there is every reason to believe that Mr. Draper will have one of the show places of the Gulf Islands.

ALASKAN TRADER DEAD

SEATTLE, July 29.—John J. Goerman, of Gorman & Co., Alaska and Pacific Northwest salmon packers and brokers, died here today after an illness of several months. He was seventy-six years of age. He came to the Northwest in 1890, becoming one of the first salmon packers in the Columbia River district. He came to settle in 1901 and entered one of the show places of the Alaska trade.

FOUR HURT AS CAR STRIKES TREE STUMP

Accident on Port Alberni Road, Near Hilliers, Due to Dust Obstructing Clear Vision

ONE DETAINED IN HOSPITAL

PORT ALBERNI, July 29.—Four people were injured near Hillier, on the road between Port Alberni and Parksville, in an automobile accident on Sunday afternoon and have been brought to this city for treatment.

Mr E. Maralia, proprietor of the Kingsway Hotel, Port Alberni, who was driving, is at home suffering from internal injuries.

With him on the front seat was Mr. P McGovern, who is a patient at the West Coast Hospital. He was thrown through the windshield and has sustained cuts to the face from broken glass, and other injuries.

Mr B. Robertson, one of the occupants of the back seat, sustained a sprained ankle. The other occupant of the rear seat, Mr R. Maver, was severely shaken and bruised.

The car swerved from the road, which was enshrouded in dust, creating a regular fog, and struck a stump, completely wrecking the car. The injured men were picked up by passing motorists and removed to Port Alberni for treatment.

LAKE BOTTOM YIELDS GOLD AND SILVER

Bullion Worth $65,000 Lost in Slocan Lake in Car Twenty-Seven Years Ago

DIVER DESCENDS TO DEPTH OF 120 FEET

NELSON, July 29—Bullion, consisting of gold, silver and lead, valued at about $65,000, lost twenty-seven years ago in Slocan Lake at Slocan City, has been recovered and is being shipped today by truck to the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's plant at Tadanac.

It was while a professional diver, Fred Madison, was searching the lake bottom for the body of a young boy drowned at Slocan City that C. P. McDougal, local contractor, hired the diver to look for the car of bullion. Descending 120 feet from the surface of the lake, the diver found the car about 300 feet from the wharf. It was clinging to an edge of a rocky precipice, the one set of trucks holding the car in place. The diver removed fifty-seven bars from the car. When the car ran away from an ore train twenty years ago it went over the end of Slocan City wharf, carrying a brakeman to his death. His body was never recovered.

The car of bullion was part of a shipment being made from the old Trail smelter to Australia. Shirtly after the car went into the lake some 125 bars were recovered.

UNDER THE CLOCK

City Hall Activities in Brief

A request was received by the City Council last night from the Pacific Coast Building Officials' Conference, Long Beach, Cal., asking that the city's building inspector attend the eighth annual meeting at Portland, Ore., on September 3-6. The letter was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

A report of the proceedings of the last convention of the Good Roads League of British Columbia was received from the secretary at Port Moody. The thirteenth annual convention is to be held at Harrison Hot Springs on October 14-15. Request was made for payment of the fee, which matter was referred to the finance committee.

The widow of the late Mark Graham, in a letter to the City Council, conveyed her grateful thanks for the "sympathy and appreciation of his services" expressed by the City Council.

Another letter read at the council meeting was from Dr. Arthur Price, acknowledging with thanks the letter sent to him by the council.

Fire Chief Stewart recommended the application of the Union Oil Company for permission to install two gasoline tanks of 1,000 and 500 gallons, respectively, and two pumps, on private property at the north-east corner of Blanshard and Yates Streets. The recommendation was approved.

Another application was from the Victoria Auto Laundry for one 250-gallon gasoline tank under the sidewalk and one pump in the building at 626 Pandora Avenue. This was referred to the public works committee.

The finance committee recommended, for investment of sinking funds, the purchase of £500 City of Victoria 4½ per cent stock, due February 1, 1962, at 89.90, yield 5.15 per cent, which was approved.

Various recommendations of the public works committee were dealt with, including one which advised that no further permits be granted for curb pumps.

The fire wardens committee reported on the convention held last week, in Vancouver, of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs.

The parks committee also reported on the convention of the International Association of Park Commissioners of the Pacific Coast, held at Seattle, July 25-26.

Alderman Worthington was appointed city's representative on the Jubilee Hospital Board in place of the late Mr. Mark W Graham.

Dr. Richard Felton was appointed to serve as the city's representative on the board of directors of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, vice Dr. Arthur O Price, former medical health officer.

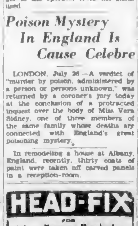

Dr R. Felton, medical health officer reported in connection with the matter of the proposed lethal chamber for the city pound, suggesting that a fair trial be given of the method outlined by Dr Price, using precautions for avoiding danger to the operator from the gases used.

WOMEN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

MISS ENA NORRINGTON RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL, FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Two Cars Collide at Street Intersection—Mrs. Norrington Still in Hospital

Miss Ena Norrington, 1320 Fairfield Terrace, one of the four injured in an automobile accident on Sunday morning at the intersection of Blanshard and Broughton Streets, left the Jubilee Hospital today for her home. Mrs. W S. Norrington, who is suffering badly from shock and possible internal injuries, is still confined to the hospital, but is making satisfactory progress, according to Dr D M Baillie, attending physician.

Mrs. Norrington and her daughter were thrown out of the car driven by Mr. Norrington when it was in collision with an automobile driven by W Horsland, of Saanich.

Flying glass from the broken windshield of Mr Norrington's car was responsible for the cuts received by the occupants. Mr Norrington received bad cuts around the face and a number of bruises.

Mr Horsland was driving south on Blanshard Street and Mr. Norrington east on Broughton Street, when the crash occurred, according to the police report.

Mr Norrington's car was badly damaged.

Mr S Johnson, a passenger in Mr Norrington's car, received bruises and abrasions, whereas the occupants of the other automobile escaped with little or no injury.

POLICE MAY HAVE SMITHER'S BANDIT

SMITHERS, July 29—A man who gave his name as James Wesley Burt, twenty-seven, is held in jail here, alleged to be the bandit who robbed the Royal Bank branch two weeks ago. Police state they found approximately $1,100 and a revolver hidden at Walcott.

He was picked up by James Fairbairn, brother of Provincial Constable Andrew Fairbairn, Burns Lake, and James Holland, who were taking him to Quick when he escaped in the darkness after taking a rifle from his escort.

A posse of twenty men directed by Sergeant Service, assisted by Indians and Jack Joseph, trailed the suspect and surprised him asleep on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. He offered no resistance when confronted by rifles held by the trackers.

Tried to Burn Public Hall Of Doukhobors

KAMSACK, Sask., July 29—An attempt was made early today to burn down the large community hall of Peter Veregin, at Veregin, Sask., by persons unknown. The fire was discovered, however, before the flames had gained a hold and was extinguished before much damage was done. Gasoline was said to have been used in the attempt to fire the building that houses the executive offices of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood.

Women's Work and Institutes

Women's Clubs and Societies

Royston W. A.

The third annual garden party of the local branch of the Women's Auxiliary was held in the grounds and home of Mrs. Stillence and Mrs. Greig. A beautiful afternoon, showing the rose-bedecked grounds at their best, great co-operation and the generosity of all friends contributed to making this event an unqualified success. The fancywork stall was in charge of Mrs. Stillence and Mrs. Jefferys, home cooking, Mrs. Dobie, Sr., and Mrs. S. Watson, tea and afternoon dips, Mrs. Carmichael and Miss Joyce Edwards, Aunt Sally, Rev. E. O. Rodwithan; stock golf, Mr. Jeffery; fortune telling, Mrs. Bell, of Cumberland. The was served by Mrs. Greig, Mrs. Ash and staff. The energetic and enthusiastic president, Mrs. Pack, stated that the affair was the most successful, both socially and financially, the branch had ever organized.

Holy Trinity, Sooke, Guild

The regular meeting of the Holy Trinity Guild was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Cooke on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs J. J. Hawkins presided. The date for the annual summer sale and bazaar was arranged to take place in Sooke Hall on August 8 at 8 p.m. Those present were Mesdames Cooke, Hawkins, Throup, Locke and Austen. Mrs. Phillips Cook assisted in the serving of tea.

Lodge Primrose Choir

The members of Lodge Primrose choir are asked to attend a special practice at the home of Mrs. Hatcher this evening at 8 o'clock.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC

An enjoyable picnic was held by about sixty-five guests and the staff and management of the Beverley Hotel Apartments, 724 Yates Street, on Saturday at the upper end of Cordova Bay. A most enjoyable day was spent in games, boating, swimming and songs. There were guests from many parts of the country as far east as New York. The party was arranged and managed by Miss Beverley Mackie, manageress of the Beverley, who was given three rousing cheers.

COLOMBO DANCE PLANS ARE MADE

Final Arrangements Completed by Britannia Branch for Entertainment of Sailors

Final arrangements were completed yesterday by the committee of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. for the entertainment and dance to be held in honor of the officers and sailors of the R.M.S. Coomba. The dance will be held in the Amphion Hall, Yates Street, Thursday night from 8 o'clock until 1 a.m.

The committee had been working diligently to make the event a huge success and everyone is assured an enjoyable evening. Tickets can be secured at the secretary's office, Pantages-Monroe Building, Broad Street, or from members of the organization.

As the tickets and accommodations are limited the public are advised to obtain them as soon as possible. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the branch.

Party at Marigold

On Saturday evening Miss Etta Griffin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin, Gladstone Avenue, was the guest of honor at a delightful party held in the Marigold Hall to celebrate her twenty-first birthday. Mendola's orchestra supplied music for dancing and during the evening between fifty and sixty sat down to supper, the tables being prettily decorated in pale blue with bouquets of white carnations and Marguerite daisies, while a beautiful birthday cake, also decorated in pale blue and white, centred the table.

Among the invited guests were Misses Madge Marcuzzi, Bob West, Beatrice Rogers, Elsie Griffin, Marjorie Hawkins, Cecelia Lewis, Nora Lynn, Bessie Horseland, Lilly Northam, Phyllis Peddle, Violet Peterson, Lily Kelly, Gertie Lloyd, Annie Lawton, Irma Conford, Florence Griffin, Messrs. Doc Bull, Bob Warnock, Richard Kricker, Joe Tillyer, Reg Chiff, William Hind, William Hind-man, Cyril Page, William Rowe, Alf Bryden, Harmon Williams, Fred Pry, Fred Marcuzzi, Wally Crous, George Griffin and William Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Marcuzzi, Mr. and Mrs. Hoge, Mr. and Mrs. Marcuzzi, Mr. Mrs. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Stacey, Mr. and Mrs. Randle, Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin and Mr. A. Marconi.

Weddings

BULLOCK—BARRETT

At the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal, on Saturday evening, Rev. A. deB. Owen united in marriage Daisy Lillian, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett, of 2962 Colquitz Avenue, and Mr. George P. Bullock, second son of Mr. Frederick Bullock and the late Mrs. Bullock. The church had been beautifully decorated with Shasta daisies and rambler roses by friends of the bride and groom. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her sleeveless wedding gown of white satin and pointed radium lace, draped at the left side with flowers and streamers and fashioned with a Bertha collar and long bodice. Her veil of silk net was caught in a Juliet cap and held in place with a circlet of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, carnations and Ophelia roses. Miss Gertrude Foster, maid of honor, wore peach-colored georgette with ecru lace and picture hat to match, carrying a bouquet of peach gladioli and blue delphiniums. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Thompson, wore mauve georgette with ecru lace and picture hat to match, with a bouquet of blue and pink sweet peas and gladioli. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Reginald Bullock, and Mr. William White and Mr. Gordon MacKinnon acted as ushers. The wedding music was played by Miss Louise Moore. Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride and bridegroom receiving while standing beneath a prettily-decorated arch, assisted by the bride's mother and the groom's aunt, Mrs. Austin. The bride's mother wore blue crepe back satin with hat to match. A buffet supper was served and a three-tier wedding cake centred the table. The bride's gift to the groom was a handsome gold watch and chain, and the groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful rope of pearls. The gifts to the maid of honor and bridesmaid were dress rings. Among the many wedding presents received was a mantle clock from the staff of David Spencer, a dinner service from the commercial travelers, and a tea service from the staff of the C.P.R. The couple left on the midnight boat for Lake Louise and Banff, where the honeymoon will be spent. For travelling the bride chose a dress of green flat crepe with fawn coat and model hat. On their return they will reside at Cooper Apartments.

AIRPLANE FLEET TO INVADE FAIR

Largest Exhibit of Aircraft Ever Seen in North America to Be Displayed at Toronto

TORONTO, July 29.—The largest air congress ever held in North America is expected to be part of the Canadian National Exhibition programme for this year. Nearly 300 planes, it is anticipated, will undoubtedly form the largest group at one occasion on the continent.

Airplane clubs all over Canada and the United States have already signified their intention of being represented. Airport facilities will be taxed in caring for the visitors. In addition to the club and private planes present most of the aircraft manufacturers in Canada and the United States will have demonstration planes on hand besides exhibits in the new aircraft building, the former transportation building.

An extra feature will be the return of the Bellhop Field flyers, who, a year ago, made such a "hit" when they visited Toronto.

STRAW BOARD MADE FROM PRAIRIE STRAW

Manufacture Boards Fourteen Feet Long and Five Feet Wide

Prairie Canada has found a new and profitable use for straw. A company has been incorporated in Regina for the manufacture of straw board to replace ordinary lumber in the construction of buildings, and one machine has recently been placed in operation on the farm of T. A. McCuaker, one mile north of Regina. Patent rights for Canada have been acquired. The machine, it is stated, compresses the straw under a pressure of 100 pounds to the square inch, the product being barred with wire and turned out in boards fourteen feet long by five feet wide and two inches thick.

WATER HIKES IN AUSTRIA

Hiking on the water is the latest sport in Austria this year. A club of water hikers has been formed, and the members have been walking from town to town on the Danube River to introduce the sport. The water hikers wear boat-like shoes which are carefully shaped and balanced to assist the wearers in making speed with safety. The wearers carry two-bladed paddles to propel themselves when the water permits.

Miss Margaret Kirkland, owner of a shoe store in Swansea, Wales, has been elected president of the Wales and Monmouthshire Boot Trades Federation, the first woman to hold that office.

Handles Make the Bag

A UNIQUE handle is the focal point of interest in many new imported bags. Or the complete lack of a handle is to be noticed. Several bags have two handles in preference to one and these are quite ornamental.

The underarm pouch and the envelope and the swagger handled type are featuring among early Fall retailers. Calf doubtless will have a great vogue for general wear, while the dressy bag more often than not will be of very fine suede, commonly called antelope.

Three convenient separate compartments, one of which is closed with a zipper fastening make a commodious type shown in printed plaid leather of the under arm pouch style frameless and supple.

The pouches at the upper left and upper right both display roomy interiors, many times easily missing the fat bulging pouches seems to be the word.

Pin seal often in two color combinations is seen in many of the couturier sponsored models. One envelope shown is of very dark brown pin seal with appliques of lighter brown calf. Plaine swagger bag illustrated in very dark blue add loose pin seal has a braided double handle of the two colors for ornamentation.

The tweed bag from Reboux is very reminiscent of school days and has a gusset across the bottom so that while flat it nevertheless will hold many articles.

Tweed carryalls are shown in indefinitely patterned materials so as to appear neutral against patterned tweed costumes.

TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE MODERN WOMAN

For Outdoor Ease and Vacation Comfort!

The modern tendency is always toward new and better things. Old-fashioned methods and foolish discomforts must go, says the woman of today.

One example of the modern trend is Modess. Women, the country over, have been quick to discover that Modess has three vital superiorities,—it is really comfortable, can be instantly disposed of and is an effective deodorant.

The filler in Modess is a fluffy, yielding mass. The sides are rounded. The gauze is cushioned with a film of downy cotton for added comfort.

Try Modess. We are sure you will find it convincingly better and it costs no more than you usually pay.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Who said "You can't be both beautiful and comfortable"? That's an antiquated phrase relegated to the past with the advent of luxurious new lounging suits, created expressly for precious, idle moments The one of dark green satin coat and off-white satin pajamas shown here seems bent upon proving the fallacy of the time-worn phrase.

Pampering Fashion's latest whims, this lounging suit adopts a tailored coat with mandarin neck and raglan sleeves, tuck-in top with sun back Even the full trousered pants comply with the mode's desire for snug hip effects by employing a yoke.

PERFECT SIGHT Without Glasses

Throw Away Your Glasses and See Better

Practically every known eye trouble—even partial blindness—has been benefited and entirely cured by this new scientific method of treatment through the Great Sympathetic Nervous System. Far sight, near sight, astigmatism, cross eyes, squint, cataract—all have been successfully treated without medicine, operation, or optical aids of any kind. Even though you have been told that you will never again be able to see satisfactorily without glasses, owing to permanent changes in the form of the eyeball, it is still possible for you to be cured—and see better without your glasses than you now do with them. If you suffer from any form of eye trouble, call at once and learn how you can have comfortable, effortless vision—unhampered by glasses. It may mean so much to you.

CHAPTER XIV

They descended the stairway speechless, and made their way the half block to the blue door beside the garage which gave entrance to that seclusive dispensary of bootleg liquor.

"It's ten minutes past nine," said Blade.

Martha's mind operated "When we get in," she said, "look at your watch again. Say it is a quarter to nine Make a point of it."

"I get you," he said.

Jimmy opened the door for them, and smiled bashfully Martha made effort to speak to him casually, playfully, as was her custom. "How's my best beau tonight?" she asked.

"I'm all right," Jimmy said, and blushed to his hair.

At the head of the stairs Katie met them with diffident courtesy, her eyes falling as they encountered Blade. She took his hat. "Miss Patty's in the back room," she said

"Who's here?"

"Just a small party for dinner. Shall I take your bag, Miss Bundy?"

Her bag! Martha glanced down, became conscious of what she held in her hand, and her heart missed a beat. Dicksie Vernon's bag, and inside it a revolver—with two cartridges fired! She clutched it tighter. "No," she said. "No"

"Brace up," whispered Blade.

Katie disappeared with the hat "I've got the revolver here," said Martha in a whisper. "I—I took it unconsciously"

Blade bit his lip and swore "Then hang on to it," he said harshly "Till you can lose it somewhere."

Miss Patty came through the door, as always, in a state of hurried enthusiasm She paused and clasped her hands. "My dear!" she exclaimed "Where have you been all these days? Why, why didn't you come in to dinner? I've a new chef . . . And Mr Blade, too. We're always glad to see you, even if you do get a little rough sometimes"

Blade compressed his lips at this arch but tactless reference

"We're early," said Martha "What time is it, Mortimer?"

He looked at his watch "Ten minutes of nine," he said. "Earlier than I thought."

"Ten minutes of nine is just the right time," said Miss Patty. "Come right in with me now. You can't guess who's here."

She flung back the door, and they entered the rear room, where the big phonograph was playing and where a table had been set for the dinner party of six. The first face Martha saw was Jerry Breen's, the second her father's . . . She stopped and caught her breath.

"There," said Miss Patty, "isn't that a lovely surprise? Your roommate! And with the nicest elderly gentleman. And an artist and an author, too You know, I love to have this place a sort of headquarters for people who do things."

There was no drawing back now, so Martha advanced, bitterly conscious of what she held dangling in her hand. It seemed to her that every eye must seek that bag unerringly, and she was sure the outlines of the weapon it contained must be apparent. But she dared not lay it down; she must permit no chance of another hand than hers touching it.

"Why, Martha!" exclaimed Jerry

"It is," said Banks Prouty, "none other than she Bring up a chair Bring up two chairs; bring up all the chairs your heart desires. And Mr Blade, of Long Island. You know Elverson Perris, than whom there is no whomer, and you know the girls, but you don't—you can't—know this friend of my childhood, whom I met for the first time this evening" He waved his hand to Mr. Bundy, who lifted twinkling, inscrutable eyes, but gave no sign of recognition.

"This," continued Prouty, "is none other than Mr Bundy, who, seeing the evil of a life of bucolic ease and Victorian virtue, has laid aside his plowshare and his bedroom slippers to plunge into the city's wicked maelstrom . . . Mr Bundy—Miss Bundy Heigh! What's this? Same names!"

"The young lady," said Martha's father, "won't object to sharing it with me—for one evening. I shan't—er—cramp her style."

"And Mr. Blade," introduced Prouty.

Mr. Bundy's eyes took in the young man, and he nodded genially "I think I have met Mr. Blade," he said.

"Then everything's set, and where do we go from here? Let's have a great deal to drink and then commit mayhem on a cop."

"But that," said Mr. Bundy, "is not modern. We used to do that when I was a boy. Would you call this a wild party?"

"Why—not exactly."

"Is Miss Bundy your daughter?" asked Perris.

"To be sure."

Mr Perris blinked "I've written some pretty modern stories, you know, but I don't recall going quite that far, even in fiction It's one too many."

"Eh? One too many. Weren't you arguing a while ago that there isn't any such thing as morals? And that nothing could be either right or wrong And then you up and get shocked just because Marty drops in while I'm giving a little party!"

"But, after all, there is good taste and decency. She's your daughter."

"To be sure. But you were saying that the family was just an artificial unit, based on property rights like land, horses and women The only real obligation a man owed his wife was to carry on kind of discreetly. And a wife could run around too if she only did it quietly"

Before there could be any rejoinder Jimmy came into the room and approached the table "Gentleman asking for Mr Blade," he said, and scowled at the young man. "He wants you to step out to see him."

Blade arose, casting a worried glance at Martha, who caught her breath and grew even paler than she was. Her eyes followed him to the door, and dread made them pitifully dark and deep Jerry watched her face and leaned across the table.

"What is it?" she asked. "Sick? Anything happen?"

"I—I'm perfectly all right," said Martha

Mortimer Blade thrust open the door and advanced with no little apprehension. Had Colburn's body been found so soon, and had the police traced them there? . . . But he halted and frowned at sight of Richard Lame.

"Well," he demanded, "what do you want?"

"I think," said Lame quietly, "that you'd better make tracks away from here."

"Why?"

"I was outside Colburn's apartment tonight."

"You? What for?"

"Miss Bundy told me she was going there, and I was uneasy. I saw you and Martha . . . meet the Japanese".

"What Japanese?"

"Colburn's man. He passed you as you came out, and went into the apartment I waited," said Lame, "because I thought I heard a sound that might have been a shot."

"Yes. Go on. What are you getting at?"

"I watched you go to the corner and climb the stairs of the L— and then the Japanese ran out yelling. What he said was 'Murder!' Does he, by any chance, know you?"

"He's served me."

"Then he would recognize you?"

"I don't know."

"Anyhow," said Lame, "you'd better skedaddle and leave me to take care of Martha If worst comes to worst," said Lame, "we can stir up a case of mistaken identity. We look enough alike for it, I think If you are found, be found alone. Is that clear? And you weren't at Colburn's. We've got to cover up this thing for Martha . . ."

"But—but what shall I do?"

"My interest in you, Mortimer is tenuous, not to say nonexistent. You go away and paddle your own canoe . . . And you'll go," said Lame with sudden intentness, "if I have to throw you down the stairs."

"All right. All right. Keep your shirt on," said Blade.

Lame watched him take his hat from Katie and descend the stairs, then he opened the door and entered the next room. The eys of the diners turned toward him, but in the dim light—and in their state of mild exhilaration—did not become immediately aware of the substitution . . . None but Martha. She had turned fearfully, striving to read from Blade's face if anything dreadful had happened—and it was not Blade's face she saw She drew a startled breath, a glad breath Blade had gone, but Richard Lame had come! How she did not know, nor why, but she was glad! It was as if she had suddenly come into safe harbor out of storm. That is how the sight of him affected her, but she was in no condition of mind to notice or to wonder at it. She struggled to her feet, her nerve breaking at last.

"Oh," she cried, "take me home . . . Take me away . . . Take me any place"

She stretched out her arms toward him as a child might have done Dicksie Vernon's bag dropped from her hand, foll heavily to the floor and opened . . . And from it rolled, to rest under the startled eyes of the company, the revolver with which Colburn had been killed

STAFF REVEL AT COLONIST FETE

Business Office and Editorial Dept. Members Join in Sport Events at Third Annual Picnic

SCRIBES VICTORS IN HECTIC TESTS

The third annual picnic of the editorial and business office staffs of The Colonist was held on Sunday at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. James Maynard, at Bear Hill, overlooking Elk Lake. Members of the editorial, advertising, business office and circulation departments of this newspapers and their friends joined in what proved to be a most successful outing.

The merrymakers gathered at the picnic grounds shortly before noon, when the softball classic and tug-of-war test took place. Luncheon then followed, after which a lengthy programme of field competitions was conducted. Supper was served at 6 p.m. The prizes were presented to the successful contestants by Mrs. Anscomb, wife of Mayor Herbert Anscomb.

The picnic executive was composed of Mr. A. G. Hawkins, chairman; Mr Harold McDonald, vice-chairman; Mr. Ernest Johnson, treasurer; Mr A. T. J. Laundy, secretary; Mr. T. H. Wilson, chairman of the sports committee, and Mr Robert Milne, field director. The various committees were: Sports and grounds, Mr T. H. Wilson, chairman, Messrs. R A. Milne, V R. Gravlin, Norman Grice and Joe Delahunty; transportation, Mr. A. T. Stewart, chairman, Messrs Sidney Thomas, James Rowe and William McAllister, printing, Mr Ernest Gallop; prizes, Mr O. H. Nelson, chairman, Messrs. K Fessenden, Cyril Wightman and Dudley Green; and refreshments, Miss May Newcombe, chairman, Miss J. E. M. Bruce, Messrs. Cuthbert Baugh-Allen and Sidney R. Sowden.

TWO FEATURE EVENTS

Events which produced the keenest rivalry were the softball game and the tug-of-war, with representatives of the editorial department emerging as victors in both tussles.

The Business Office Wonders and the Editorial Marvels were the opposing nines, and previous contests between these two rival aggregations had resulted in a win for each. So both teams were out to establish supremacy on the diamond on Sunday. The ball fracas was a lively struggle, with the result in doubt until the last half of the final inning, when Vic Gravlin crossed the plate with the winning marker on Fessenden's sacrifice hit.

Both teams chalked up three runs in the opening fracas, and the editorials two more in the second, while the business office crew failed to tally. The business departments went on the rampage in the third inning, and sent no less than seven men home. Again in the fifth they did good work, and netted four runs. The scribes, however, scored in every stanza, making their biggest effort in the fifth, bringing in five runs. The business office balltossers tied the count in the first half of the seventh, and their opponents chased over the deciding score with one out in the concluding portion of the same spasm.

The business office team worked two pitchers, Jimmy Rowe and Bob Milne, and two catchers, Harry Robson and George Bowden, in a vain effort to check the onslaught of the editorial heavy swatters, while Sidney Thomas went the entire distance heaving for the latter outfit, with Joe Delahunty on the receiving end.

The score by innings was as follows:

Business Office	3 0 7 0 4 0 f—15
Editorial Marvels	3 2 2 2 5 1 1—16

THE TEAMS

The teams, in batting order, were as follows:

Business Office Wonders—James Rowe, p, rf; Robert Milne, p; Harry Robson, c, ss; Norman Grice, 1b, Bert Bailey, 3b; George Bowden, ss, c; Art Laundy, cf; Ernest Johnson, rf, Bill Barker, 2b; K. Cameron, lf.

Editorial Marvels — Charles Swayne, rf, cf; Harold McDonald, 2b; Joe Delahunty, c; V. R. Gravlin, ss; Sidney Thomas, p; K. Fessenden, 1b; Rubert Lock, 3b; Richard Blomfield, cf; George Bonavia, rf, and Maurice Davis, lf.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb and Mr. Richard C. Lowe umpired the melee, and Mr John Alder satisfactorily officiated as scorer.

Five teams participated in the tug-of-war, namely, the Editorial A, last year's champions, Editorial B, Advertising, Business Office and Circulation. The Advertising and Circulation Department were the first to engage in this test of strength. The "ad men" succeeded in eliminating the Circulation five, by winning two pulls out of three. Next the Editorial B and Business Office men were pitted against each other in the battle of prowess, with the scribes pulling their opponents off their feet in two successive attempts. Then the Editorial A team, which had a bye, met the Advertising crew, and entered the finals by defeating them in two straight pulls.

EDITORIAL B WINS

Editorial men faced editorial men for the second year in a row in the closing stage of the tussle. The Editorial B team won the first pull from the Editorial A squad. In the next pull the honors were reversed, making a third and deciding pull necessary. The Editorial B "tuggers" lost no time in showing their superiority in this line of sport, and took the Editorial A men into camp in no uncertain style. For the third year in succession, representatives of the Editorial Department carried off the tug-of-war bunting.

The members of the winning tug-of-war team, Editorial B, were as follows: T H. Wilson, H B. McDonald, Hubert Lock, George Bonavia and V. R Gravlin.

The other competing teams were: Editorial A — Sidney Thomas, Charles Swayne, A. G. Sargison, Richard Blomfield and Joe Delahunty.

Business Offie—R. A Milne, S. R. Bowden, James Rowe, Ernest Johnson and George Bowden.

Circulation—Mayor Herbert Anscomb, Norman Grice, Bert Bailey, Harry Robson and K. Cameron.

Advertising—Jack Henslowe, A. T. Stewart, John Alder, Cuthbert Baugh-Allen and Art Laundy.

MAYOR SHOWS FORM

Mayor Herbert Anscomb proved that he hasn't lost any of his old skill on the cinder path, when he kicked his heels to Harold B McDonald and Richard C. Lowe in the special eighty-yard dash. Lowe took an early lead but McDonald and Anscomb caught him at the half-way mark, and the trio ran neck and neck to the finishing tape. The "flying" mayor's final spurt won him the race from McDonald by a few inches with Lowe a close third, two feet in arrear of the second man. The track was heavy.

Four teams, each comprised of seven men, took part in the great relay race, over a distance of 300 yards. Some fine running was witnessed in this event, and the finish was close, Major Sargison bringing victory to his team by his sensational dash for the tape.

The other athletic events in the programme were keenly contested and created lots of amusement. The officials of the sports were as follows: Major A. O. Sargison, starter; Mayor Herbert Anscomb and Mr. Richard C. Lowe, judges, and Mr. R. A. Milne, field director.

Art Laundy was the winner of the grand aggregate prize, which was offered to the competitor in the sports events who secured the highest number of points during the programme.

A water color of Shoal Bay, painted by Miss Barbara Bullock-Webster, was presented to Mr. Maynard as a souvenir of the occasion.

Incidentally a party of the visitors took the occasion to climb Bear Hill, 718 feet high, which presents a wonderful panoramic view of the Saanich peninsula.

Endurance Plane Minnesota Ends Flight in Crash

MINNEAPOLIS, July 29.—The endurance plane, the Minnesota, crashed into the ground at Wold-Chamberlain Field at 5.25 a.m. today killing Captain P. J Crichton and Owen Haughland, pilots.

The plane plunged into the old concrete automobile racing track encircling the field just five minutes after the ground crew had picked up a message from the flyers saying, "Everything is going fine."

Preparations for making another refueling contact were under way by the ground crew before the ship went into a spin. Crichton was instantly killed and Haughland died later in a hospital.

The plane had been in the air 154 hours and forty minutes.

Members of the ground crew were unable to ascribe any reason for the crash.

AMUSEMENTS

Capitol—"The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City," starring George Sidney.

Coliseum—Blanche Sweet in "The Woman in White."

Columbia—"South Sea Love," featuring Patsy Ruth Miller.

Dominion—"Show Boat," with Laura La Plante.

Playhouse—Rod La Rocque, in "The One Woman Idea."

COLUMBIA THEATRE Ralph Ince, director of Patsy Ruth Miller's latest FBO picture, now showing at the Columbia Theatre, has had a varied and colorful career. The stage was by no means his first lure. He had set out originally to be an artist, studying at the Chase Art School in New York. His artistic sense has always led him to seek for unusual composition and artistic effects in his motion picture productions, and in "South Sea Love" it is said he has gratified a long-cherished ambition to make the "picture beautiful" of his career.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE There is every reason why Herbert Finnemore, who appears as a steward on the ship on which much of the action of "The One Woman Idea," made for Fox Films by Berthold Viertel, should look and act the part. He has served as steward on some of the best vessels afloat, including the Leviathan and California. Rod La Rocque enacts the leading role in this exotic screen drama, now at the Playhouse Theatre, while Marceline Day provides the other side of the romantic element.

COLISEUM THEATRE It requires a good director, a talented actress and the right kind of story to make an entertaining mystery photoplay, and at the Coliseum Theatre there is just that in "The Woman in White," adapted for the screen from Wilkie Collins' famous novel. It is a new line for Blanche Sweet, but she succeeds in putting over the rather difficult dual role neatly. In fact, not since "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," or "Anna Christy" has she given a better performance. Herbert Wilcox, the director, has succeeded in filming the Collins novel without a jar.

CAPITOL THEATRE Atlantic City with its beaches, hotels and bathing beauties was the location spot where most of Universal's "The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City," the riotous comedy which is now at the Capitol Theatre today and Wednesday, was filmed. It is the policy of Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures Corporation, to shoot pictures in the actual place where the story occurs. He has done this wherever practicable. A company of sixty people headed by Director William Craft were sent to Atlantic City to film this comedy, which continues the adventures of the two families started two years ago in "The Cohens and Kellys."

DOMINION THEATRE Accompanied by the gay, spirited notes of a calliope and the melodious minors of negro singers, "Show Boat," a super-talking picture made from the famous Edna Ferber novel, last night steamed into the Dominion Theatre. A enthusiastic audience greeted its coming — an audience thrilled by the beauty of its story, the gripping qualities of its drama, by its glorious music and singing and by the general entertainment qualities of the production. It is without doubt one of the finest pictures ever made. Carl Laemmle, head of Universal, may well call this a super picture. It is magnificent in its sweep, in its settings, in its characterizations and in the tuneful interpolations that make it great entertainment for the ear as well as for the eye. In fact, it really is a mammoth combination of stage and screen. The audience gets the full benefit of a big screen show plus a big stage musical show. By special arrangement with Florence Ziegfeld, who produced "Show Boat" as a musical extravaganza.

SHOWS NEED FOR AIR FACILITIES

Big Seaplane Is Forced to Disembark Passengers Outside Inner Harbor on Sunday

The need of proper landing facilities in Victoria, for both seaplanes and airplanes, was noticeable on Sunday, when a big seaplane, belonging to the Boeing Companies of Seattle, and piloted by A. E. Holden, formerly a resident in Victoria, was forced to disembark her five passengers on a scow near the old Hudson's Bay wharf, because her wingspread was so large that she was unable to reach the Inner Harbor.

Mr. Harold Crary, advertising publicity manager of the Boeing Companies, met the plane, together with Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren. It would greatly benefit Victoria, in Mr. Crary's opinion, if proper landing facilities were built here. In days gone by, he pointed out, cities competed for railway lines. Now the demand was for air lines.

Communists of Toronto Defy Police Orders

TORONTO, July 29.—Disregarding a police order prohibiting them from holding open-air meetings, some fifty members of the Toronto Communist Party gathered Saturday night on a downtown street corner to hold a meeting. Police started to disperse them but the Communists, police allege, led by a number of women members, attacked the officers.

Five arrests were made on disorderly charges. They were later released on bail.

New Stores Are to Be Put Up on Fort Street

A building permit was issued at the City Hall yesterday for the Chain Development Company, Limited, for a one-storey, frame and stucco building, at a cost of $11,500, at 1801-7 Fort Street, corner of Fort Street and Richmond Avenue, on which it is proposed to erect four stores. An immediate start, it is understood, is to be made on the work by Messrs. McKechnie & Skelton, the contractors.

Many players write to ask me how one can tell in advance whether or not there may be a possible squeeze play in a hand, such play consisting of forcing one or both adversaries to discard a winning card, or the guard to what would otherwise be a winning card. When one adversary is so forced, the play is termed a single Squeeze; when both are so forced, it is termed a double Squeeze.

While the possibility of a Squeeze can be frequently foreseen in the early development of a hand, there can be no marked certainty of one until after the adverse holdings have become clearly marked by the play.

Many hands occur in which a Squeeze may be tried for, although not clearly marked. These consist of hands in which a player cannot possibly develop a hand beyond a certain number of tricks in any other way. Consequently precedent to any conscious try for a Squeeze must be the count of the two hands of Declarer and Dummy to determine their limitations beyond which no further tricks can be obtained against perfect defence except by a Squeeze.

In this deal the Declarer (South) gets a Squeeze on the East player at the tenth trick as will be seen.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Auction: South bids one No Trump originally rather than making an introductory Club bid, as he has all four suits stopped. Clearly South need not ask partner to bid No Trumps for him nor does he need further information as to partner's holding before bidding No Trumps, as would be the case had he held a wholly unprotected suit. Following South's one No Trump, all pass.

Contract: South bids two No Trumps originally at Contract, showing all suits stopped of which three are doubly stopped, and at least 4 Quick Tricks which should normally develop 7 Probable Tricks either at No Trumps or in support of a suit bid by partner.

North holds 2 Quick Tricks and therefore the probability of four tricks in all in support of partner's No Trump. Accordingly, he adds his four to the seven shown by South's bid and makes a jump assist to four No Trumps, a clear invitation for a Slam yet an underbid of the full quantitative values held.

South now bids five No Trumps, indicating that he holds 1 Probable Trick in excess of the seven shown originally and in turn inviting a Slam by North if able. North accepts the invitation by going to six No Trumps, his unvalued Queen-Jack of Clubs and high intermediates justifying the second raise of a Small Slam contract.

THE PLAY

West leads initially his fourth best Club, the 3, which is won by Dummy's Jack. South now stops to count the hand and figures his positive tricks as four Clubs, four Diamonds, three Hearts and one Spade, or 12 in all. Should the adverse Hearts be split 3-3, a Grand Slam can be made; or should the Hearts be split 4-2 and the player holding the four Hearts also hold the King of Spades, then thirteen tricks can be made by a Squeeze as such player could not retain both a long Heart and a high Spade since Declarer has 12 solid tricks. Thus the possibility of a Squeeze becomes apparent to Declarer as soon as the Dummy hand is exposed, enabling Declarer to count the two hands.

Accordingly, South plays four rounds of Diamonds after winning the first Club lead with the Jack, then lays down Dummy's Queen of Clubs and the Ace of Spades so as not to block the possibility of establishing his Queen by a subsequent Squeeze. Following this he comes into his own hand with the Ace of Hearts and next lays down the Ace of Clubs.

It will be seen that East has now been forced to make one Spade discard on the fourth Diamond lead and a second Spade discard on the third round of Clubs. He, therefore, is down to the following: Spade King, Heart Jack-Eight-Seven.

For the tenth trick South lays down the King of Clubs and East is squeezed, forced to discard either his good King of Spades of the guard to what would be a winning Heart.

Thus a Grand Slam, while not soundly biddable, is made by reason of the Squeeze. It will be seen that South put himself in a position either to pick the adverse Hearts at the end, if split 3-2, or to effect the Squeeze should four Hearts and the King of Spades lie in the same hand.

Cave Men Found In Palestine Are 30,000 Years Old

JERUSALEM, July 7.—The French School of Archaeology in Jerusalem, which constitutes a part of the Dominican Convent here, has just closed its series of public lectures, in which subjects of importance in the archaeological, biblical and Oriental fields were treated. By the intellectuals of Jerusalem a gap will be felt until these lectures are resumed next year, for they comprise the leading feature of Jerusalem's cultural life.

Among the outstanding lectures of the season were those of Father Dhorme, the head of the school, on the excavations in Ur of the Chaldees, and those of M. Neuville, the French vice-consul in Jerusalem. The latter's talk was concerning his own excavations in a prehistoric cave near the traditional site of the Cave of Adullam. In the Wadi Khreitun, M. Neuville found one of the most important prehistoric settlements yet discovered in Palestine. The lowest layer of human deposit on the floor of this cave contained remains at least as old as the most ancient human deposits yet found in Europe, and are believed to date back more than 30,000 years. That there were cave men in Palestine at such a remote date is a discovery that is entirely new, and may be an additional indication of the Asiatic origin of man.

She was giving an order to the grocer.

"And I require some cheese," she said.

"Yes, miss," replied the grocer, smiling amiably; "I have some lovely cheese."

"You should not say lovely cheese!" said the customer severely.

"But why not, miss? It is lovely cheese."

"Because,"—she tried to combine maidenly modesty with an air of learning—"because lovely should only be used to qualify something that is alive."

The grocer's smile broadened as he glanced at the gorgonzola.

"Well, miss," he said, "I'll stick to 'lovely'!"

Jack, returning from sea, met a young girl with a perambulator in the village street, who ran up to him and said "Jack, don't you know me? I'm your mother."

He replied with a laugh: "Why, my mother is very old and feeble."

"Well," said she, "I have been undergoing monkey-gland treatment."

"But how do you account for the baby in the pram?" he asked doubtfully.

"Why, that is your father," she replied. "He took an overdose."

SCOUT CAMP IS IN FULL SWING

COWICHAN BOYS NOW UNDER CANVAS AT BURGOYNE BAY

Known as B.-P. Camp in Honor of Founder of Movement—Special Initiation Planned

DUNCAN, July 29.—The Cowichan district camp, which is situated on Mr. Maxwell's property at Burgoyne Bay, Salt Spring Island, is now in full swing. The Scouts were transported by car and launch to the camp site last Tuesday and very quickly pitched their tents. About forty boys are under canvas.

The camp chief is Rev. A. Bischlager, district scoutmaster, and is assisted by Scouters Colonel J. S. Hodding, Colonel E. M. Dopping-Hepenstal and Desmond Crofton, who are in charge of the Duncan, Quamichan and Salt Spring Island troops respectively. Commissioner H. T. Ravenhill arrived on Saturday and will stay until the breaking up of the camp on July 31.

The camp is known as the "B.-P. Camp," in honor of the founder of the Scout movement, which attains its twenty-fifth birthday this year. On July 30, the day before the opening of the Jamboree in England, the Scouts will hold a special initiation ceremony of Tenderfoot Scouts, drink B.-P.'s health and partake of a huge birthday cake, presented by Miss Lucy Kingston, of Quamichan.

On Tuesday the camp will be visited by the Duncan and Quamichan Packs of Wolf Cubs. There was a big crowd of visitors at the camp on Sunday afternoon. All were entertained at tea by the campers.

CRICKET TOUR IS GREAT SUCCESS

Visit of Dean Quainton's Eleven to North End of Island Boost for Game

CUMBERLAND, July 29.—The visit of Dean Quainton's cricket eleven to the north end of the Island proved to be most successful, the game of cricket in consequence receiving a decided boost. Two games were played against the Cumberland eleven, two against the Courtenay eleven and one game against a combined team of Cumberland and Courtenay players.

Saturday's game was played under ideal weather conditions, with Cumberland practically fielding their strongest team. Eden Quainton won the toss and put Cumberland in to bat, Idiens and Robathan being the opening pair. The home team made a good start, the first wicket producing 34 runs, the second wicket carrying the total to 68 runs. At 83 for five wickets the Cumberland skipper declared, leaving the visitors an hour and a quarter to knock off the required runs. The Cumberland bowlers, Vernon-Jones and H. Taylor, started off very well, dismissing five of the visitors for only five runs. Time robbed Cumberland of a victory, the visitors' score standing at 43 for 8 when time was called. The visitors were very sporty, and as soon as one man went out another was ready with the pads on, no time being lost waiting for incoming batsmen. The scores:

Bowling—H. Taylor, 4 for 13; Vernon-Jones, 3 for 23, Idiens, 1 for 8.

The fourth match, played at Courtenay, was won by the visitors by 38 runs. Pillar and Halkett put on 47 runs for the first wicket, and then McLaughlin took four wickets in one over, including the hat trick. Eden and Eric Quainton put on 55 for the fifth wicket, both hitting very hard. Idiens and Ellis gave Courtenay a good start, both playing very carefully. Apart from these two, Courtenay's batsman did not give much trouble. Reid again bowled well. The fielding of both teams was excellent, Jack Payne distinguishing himself particularly. The scores follow:

The above trophy cups are still open for competition.

CITY POLICE COURT

Robert Rowan and James Atkinson were charged in the city police court before Magistrate George Jay yesterday with creating a disturbance by fighting on Belleville Street on July 23. Both accused pleaded not guilty. Three witnesses, Inspector John T. Boulton, Constable Henry Jarvis and Frederick Roberts, gave testimony for the prosecution. Hearing of the case was remanded until this morning. Mr. Stuart Henderson is counsel for Rowan.

Pleading guilty to a charge of a second offence of being intoxicated in a public place, Charles Benson was fined $50, with the option of ten days in jail in default of payment. The accused was taken in custody by Constable Tom Stevenson.

A remand was granted in the case of Kenneth C. R. Hay, of Vancouver, who is accused of driving his motor car to the common danger on Esquimalt Road on July 18.

A North-countryman, charged with having set fire to a hayrick, was defended on the ground that he was not altogether responsible for his actions. One of the witnesses testified to the belief that the prisoner was "wrong in his head."

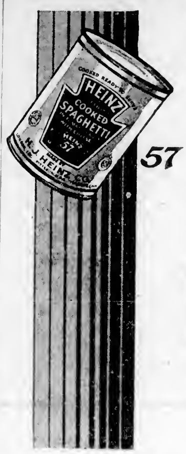

"Can you mention any occasion on which the prisoner behaved in a manner to warrant your statement?" he was asked by counsel.

"Yes," answered the witness. "Once at work he got half a crown too much in his pay envelope, an'—"

"Well?" said the counsel, as the witness hesitated.

"He took it back to th' manager."

Punch Bowl Meet Attracting Several Seattle Golf Teams

Record Entry Expected to Tee-Off in Quest of Coveted Silverware at Colwood Club on Saturday—Local Squads Strong

With the event scheduled for next Saturday, captains of the various golf clubs throughout the Pacific Northwest are busily engaged in rounding their squads to represent their respective clubs at the annual Punch Bowl tournament of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association to be held at the Colwood Golf and Country Club. The event, which is one of the oldest on regional calendar and provides one of the most interesting and enjoyable competitions on the list, is expected to be keenly fought. Each member club of the association is entitled to be represented by a team of six men, competing from scratch at match play against par, the club making the best aggregate showing being declared the champion for the year and retaining possession of the bowl for twelve months.

BON STEIN

In order to insure a reasonably high standard of play, it is provided that the combined handicap ratings of the members of any competing team shall not exceed forty-eight strokes.

The defending champions will be the Rainier Golf and Country Club team. They captured the coveted bowl in 1926 at the Fircrest Club and retained their laurels last year on their home course. Captain Steve Dwan has designated Jack Lawson, Alex Duncan, Clark Speirs, Dr. J. M. Johnston, Hugo Haakons and Joe Just as his squad, with Pete Ash, Johnny Shields, F. E. Williams, H. Follrich and Bert Kellam as reserves.

LOCAL CLUBS STRONG

Local clubs will send strong contingents out to Colwood with high hopes of snatching the honors and silverware from the Americans. Colwood should go a long way in the meet with such players as Harold Lineham, Walter Hall, Jack Matson, Norman Wallace, R. J. Darcus, Goldwyn Terry, Frank Thomas, to choose from. The younger group of golfers who will uphold the colors of the Uplands Golf Club may make all opposition step with Bob Morrison, Harold and Clarence Brynjolfson, Percy Edmonds, Al Falk and Bill Pomeroy on its roster.

Eric Burton, F. C. Allen, R. Scott-Moncrieff, A. Watson, A. S. G. Musgrave and Art Beasley are on the team that will represent the Victoria Golf Club.

Captain Marfield Bolcom, of the Seattle Golf Club, is said to be lacking a few of his first stringers in Jack Ballinger and Myron McElwaine, but he will have Bon Stein, Lee Stell, Dixie Fleager, Roy Campbell, Walter Cernell and either Sam Russell or Tommy Green to depend upon to make his selection.

The Inglewood Club team will include Fred Jackson, Larry Ives, Captain A. J. Schoephoester, Ted Knudson, Archie Stuart and Carl Blackstock. Hot on the trail of the trophy this year will be a formidable sextette from the Olympic Club with an aggregation consisting of E. V. Greenway, Harold Richards, Frank Todd, Jack McBain, Herb Sheriff and Curley Waters. Dr. R. A. Dawes, the captain, Dave Olson and Frank Crook are the substitutes.

SAND POINT ENTERED

Lloyd Nordstrom will guide the Sand Point team, with Harold Benton, A. Marion, Tom Bellwin, B. Davis and Phil Fisher to complete the squad and C. E. Stevens and Captain Torchy Torrance to fall back on. Although Captain Scotty MacDougall of the University Club has not named his team, he is depending upon Barney Savery, Bob Dahl and Dr. R. E. Hampson.

Overlake and Broadmoor are expected to enter teams, but their personnel has not yet been determined.

SOUTH AFRICA MAKES TIMID REPLY IN TEST

Score Only 130 Runs in First Innings Against England's Total of 427—

NEW THIRD WICKET STAND RECORD SET

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 29.—(Canadian Press Cable).—England completely outplayed South Africa in the fourth cricket test match at Old Trafford today. On a wicket favoring the English bowler, A. P. Freeman, South Africa replied to England's first innings today of 427 for seven wickets, declared, with a feeble 130.

South Africa followed on and lost three wickets for fifteen runs in their second innings before play closed for the day.

Rain fell heavily during the weekend and the game was only started after the captains had inspected the wicket four times. Carr was satisfied with England's score on Saturday and declared first thing this morning. The South Africans had about fifteen minutes' batting before lunch and in that time lost Catterall, one of their best batsmen. He was caught by Sutcliffe off Barratt's bowling.

NEW RECORD MADE

A new record for a third-wicket stand was put up in the match. Frank Woolley and R. E. S. Wyatt scored 245 runs, which figures displace the former Anglo-African international third-wicket record of 152 made by Mead and Rhodes, of England, at Johannesburg in 1913. Woolley and Wyatt came together when England had made a poor start, losing their opening pair, Sutcliffe and Bowley, for a scant thirty-six runs. Woolley's individual output of runs totaled 154, which is the best innings this great stylist has played in test matches dating back to 1907. Scores:

England—First Innings

Sutcliffe, b Morkel	8
Bowley, b Bell	13
Wyatt, c Cameron, b Vincent	113
Woolley, c and b Vincent	154
Hendren, b Quinn	12
Leyland, c Cameron, b Mitchell	55
Carr, c Bell, b Quinn	10
Geary, not out	21
Barratt, not out	3
Extras	28
Total (for 7 wickets)	427

To bat—Duckworth and Freeman.

Fall of wickets—1 for 30, 2 for 36, 3 for 281, 4 for 304, 5 for 342, 6 for 365, 7 for 424.

TURENNE WINS STATE TENNIS

Seattle Star Defeats Levy to Capture Washington Title—Californians Take Doubles

SEATTLE, July 29.—Leon De Turenne, Seattle, regained the Washington State tennis championship from California here yesterday when he conquered Ed. Levy, brilliant chop stroke artist of San Francisco, in a bitter four-set match. The score was 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

Turenne captured the title for his home state again after California had held it for two years through the efforts of Bradshaw Harrison, formerly of San Francisco. Champions were also crowned in the mixed doubles when Miss Golda Myer Gross, San Francisco, and Harry Plymire, Palo Alto, Cal., defeated Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Bartosh, Los Angeles, 9-5, 6-2. The winners entered the finals yesterday morning when they eliminated Miss Ann Cook of Oakland and Phil Hanna, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-5.

In an all-San Francisco affair, Ray Casey and Laurason Driscoll defeated Kurt Berndt and Levy for the men's doubles championship. The score was 8-10, 6-1, 10-8, 6-3.

'GABBY' STREET NOTICES GREAT CHANGE IN GAME

Walter Johnson's Battery Mate of Twenty Years Ago Can Hardly Believe Baseball of Today

SIZE OF PARKS BIG DIFFERENCE

NEW YORK, July 29.—"Gabby" Street, one of the great catchers of baseball twenty years ago, can hardly believe his eyes as he sits on the bench of the St. Louis Cardinals and sees base hits rain from National League bats. The man who marched to fame as the battery mate of Walter Johnson returned to the majors this year as a Cardinal coach after many years as a minor league manager. Street, whose real name is Charles, although he has heard only "Gabby" since he was a boy, broke into baseball's big time with Cincinnati in 1904. He played, too, with Boston in the National League, but his star reached its zenith when he was catching Johnson's cannonball service and chiding batters as they swung and missed. This was from 1908 to 1911. He was on his way out when he was with the New York Americans in 1912.

WALTER JOHNSON

"There's more hitting now than when you were an active player," was a suggestion designed to draw out the veteran on the subject of baseball then and now.

"More hitting," snorted the old catcher. "Why, a club makes more runs in one game than we did in a week.

"At Washington in 1909 we had such pitchers as Walter Johnson, Tom Hughes, Bob Groom, Bill Burns and Dixie Walker. Our pitchers didn't allow but about fifteen runs per week. We finished last, even with that pitching, because we could only score about ten runs a week. We didn't have much offence. We lost a lot of games 2 to 1 and 3 to 2.

"It's not altogether the ball, either. I think one of the biggest differences is the size of the ball parks. So many people want to get in now they have to have some place to put them, so the stands are built where the playing fields used to be. In the old days we had plenty of room. All our playing fields were like this big park in Boston.

SOUND BY RULES

"A pitcher then could work on a batter and let him hit a high fly. He didn't have to worry about it dropping over the infield into some stand for a home run. I don't believe the younger crop of pitchers can show the stuff the old fellows had. How could they? Nowadays all a pitcher can throw is a fast one, a curve and a slow ball, they are so bound down by the rules.

"Now there is no chance to play 'smart baseball.' Why resort to strategy to get in position to score one run when by swinging from the heels you can score a half dozen or maybe even a dozen?

"I don't want to seem to be eating sour grapes, but we older fellows certainly lived too soon in baseball. The big money is paid now for less work.

"Twenty and twenty-five years ago there were far more players than jobs, and everybody had to hustle to be kept in the game. Now the demand exceeds the supply and it is much less strenuous.

"Another thing, the old boys did not know a thing about saving their money, and a month or so after the season was over they were broke. That placed them in a tough spot. They had to have an advance, and when they were paid something on account before they earned it they couldn't do much talking back to a club. Today you never hear of a major league player being broke."

The catcher of yesterday was asked if the lively ball could be bit for many home runs with Walter Johnson pitching as in his prime.

"Oh, yes, the fellows would hit home runs off Walter with this ball—if they could hit it.

"But the old recipe for cooking a rabbit would go for the rabbit ball, too. First they would have to catch the rabbit."

Eastern Soccer Club Defeats Winnipeg Squad, 4-6, in First Connaught Cup Final

WINNIPEG, July 29.—The East threw its challenge for the Connaught Cup and national soccer honors in the face of an army of Western supporters, six thousand strong, here tonight, when Montreal Canadian National Railways toppled United Weston of Winnipeg in the final game of the championship.

YOUNG STRIBLING LOSES ON FOUL

TULSA, Okla., July 29.—Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., heavyweight, won from W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., tonight on a foul in the early part of the sixth round. In that round both fighters mixed furiously and Hunt had twice been knocked down by Stribling's powerful righthand punches.

Poles Out 29th Home Run

MEL Ott, slugging outfielder of the New York Giants, has risen to a position of prominence as a hitter due mainly to his natural swing and powerful arms and shoulders. Ott is one of the leaders among both National and American League home run hitters and yesterday cracked out his twenty-ninth of the season, when the Giants hammered the St. Louis Cards around.

Mandell, Canzoneri Are Opposite Types

Defending Champion in Friday's Lightweight Battle Best Boxer for His Weight in World, Benny Leonard Says

(This is the first of five stories by Benny Leonard on the Mandell-Canzoneri world's lightweight championship fight, which will be held in Chicago Friday night. The fifth story will be Leonard's description of the fight itself. Leonard, who retired as undefeated lightweight champion of the world, will discuss Mandell's ring faults and virtues in tomorrow's story.)

By BENNY LEONARD
Former Lightweight Champion of the World
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, who defends his title against Tony Canzoneri at the Chicago Stadium in a ten-round battle Friday night, is a boxer of the scientific kind. He belongs to the Jim Corbett school of stand-up, hit-and-elude boxers, and is exactly opposite in this respect to Tony Canzoneri.

SAMMY MANDELL

It will be a clash between distinct styles of ringcraft when the two square off. Canzoneri, although he can box when he's fighting against a slugger, really is of the aggressive boring type. He keeps both hands going at all times, and depends on his rushing or bulling tactics for victory.

CONTRASTS ADDS COLOR

This conflict of ring systems makes for the most interesting kind of battle, but after it is all over the spectator wonders why he couldn't have seen beforehand just how it was going to come out.

If the boxer can dance out of harm's way, keep the aggressor's heavy punches "boxed" or blocked, and sew up his man in the clinches so the opponent's aggressiveness is neutralized, it is the most natural-seeming thing in the world for him to come through unscathed. It all looks so easy the spectator forgets he is watching a masterful performance by a master workman.

But if the slugger or aggressive fighter breaks down the clever man's guard, gets a solid punch to a vulnerable spot, and thus turns the tide in his own favor, so weakening the clever boxer that he can easily be battered down for a knockout, the spectator wonders how he ever could have thought a frail-looking boxer could possibly hold off such a rugged and relentless attack long enough to win.

It is this uncertainty that makes the boxer against the slugger the best kind of a fight and the most thrilling. The battler, or aggressive man, always is dangerous, and there always is the thought in the mind of the onlooker that he may crash over a terrific punch that will end the contest with a knockout.

Mandell is really a great boxer, better than any other man in the ring today for his weight. He is fast, a ring tactician, who makes every move count and who makes no moves that have not a direct bearing on the matter in hand.

With these clever fellows one of their great requisites is speed. A scientific boxer can't be a slow mover. He's got to be fast. This keeps him from being a great hitter. I have known many hard hitters who in time developed into clever boxers, but they almost invariably left their punches at the crossroads where they began to be clever.

The reason is that a clever or scientific boxer is so eager or in such a hurry to escape a punch by his adversary that he hasn't time to put all his strength into his punches. The result is that while he hits fast he sacrifices heft for speed.

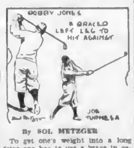

LIMITED TARGET

A fast clever boxer when fighting an aggressive type like Canzoneri, usually looks good because he is not leading or starting punches. He leaves this for his opponent, and it is a much easier matter to avoid being hit than it is to hit a moving target anticipating your moves. After all, the territory that may be hit is limited. So this makes it easier for the defender.

Canzoneri, I have said, is something of a boxer. This would be a handicap to him against a better boxer, for because Tony knows a bit about boxing he is apt to be inveigled into trying to box with a superior boxer and thus find himself fighting the other man's fight, playing the other man's game.

There you have an outline of the two styles which will clash for the lightweight championship.

Bobby Jones and Joe Use Same Style

By SOL METZGER

To get one's weight into a long drive one has to use a brace in order to hold his balance. Bobby Jones and Joe Turnesa both use same driving styles.

Both these golfers get the brace to hit against by replacing the left heel on the ground in the exact position it occupied at address as they start the downswing and by straightening the left leg. And as it goes down this left heel catches the bulk of the shifting weight.

If you let this weight slide to the ball of the left foot as you swing through, one loses his balance. Get it on the heel. And as this heel goes down straighten the left leg as do Jones and Turnesa. Then, and only then, have you a brace to hit against. Tomorrow—Horton Smith.

LAWN BOWLING

Yesterday afternoon, in the third round of the Victoria club doubles, Morrison and Owens met J. H. Stewart and Greenhill, and a close game resulted. At the close of the fifteenth end Owens appeared a sure winner, as the score stood 16 to 8 in his favor. At the close of the twentieth end the score stood 16 to 14, and Greenhill had hopes of at least tieing on the twenty-first. Stewart's second bowl lay right beside the jack, but Morrison with his second put him through and lay shot. Stewart's third bowl put Morrison's through and lay shot. Morrison's last two bowls were a foot or more short, but Stewart's last bowl lay a perfect guard, about four feet short. With his second bowl Greenhill drew in for second shot, tieing the score. He attempted to make it three with his third bowl, but was six inches short. He played his fourth bowl to guard, but could not entirely block. Owing to the way the bowls were lying, Owens did not attempt to disturb them with his first three shots, but with his last he raised one of his own for second shot and won a good game by the narrow margin of one point.

Next Heavyweight Boxing Bout Will Be Held at Boston

NEW YORK, July 29.—In virtual defiance of the wishes of the New York State Athletic Commission, William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden, announced definitely today that a heavyweight match would be staged in September between Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, and Jack Sharkey, of Boston.

HOCKING PUTS PEERS OUT OF WESTERN MEET

Victoria Star Defeats Ranking Vancouver Player in Three-Set Duel—Favorites Advance

HOPE LEEMING WINS WITH EASE

VANCOUVER, July 29.—Visiting stars, almost without exception, had easy victories in the first rounds of the Western Canada tennis championships at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club's courts today.

Edmund Levy, of San Francisco, seeded No. 1, advanced with the loss of but few games, while other California stars, such as Burt Berndt, Ray Casey, Laurason Driscoll and Mervin Griffin, also moved into the second round without difficulty.

Bud Hocking, of Victoria, had a good win, putting out Geoff Peers, ranking Vancouver player, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. Jerry Bartosh, of Seattle, was eliminated by A. S. Milne, former Canadian Davis Cup player, in a marathon battle, 10-8, 5-7, 6-2. Mrs. Bartosh also went by the boards, going down before Miss Marie McNab, Vancouver city champion, 2-6, 4-6.

HOPE LEEMING WINS

Hope Leeming, Victoria, surprised by her decisive victory over Miss Dorothy Gillespie, of Vancouver, whom she beat 6-2, 6-1. Miss Dorothy Weisel, of San Francisco, put out Miss D. O'Shea, of Vancouver, 6-2, 6-3, while Mrs. Golda Gross, another California star, won with equal ease. Miss Elsie Porter, of Vancouver, got the best of Mrs. Johnson, of Edmonton, in a grueling struggle, which went only one set, the Edmonton player defaulting after losing the initial session 13-15. Good progress was made in the play, close to 150 matches being run off.

PARFITTS REACH SOFTBALL SEMIS

Stage Twelve-Run Rally in Sixth Frame to Win From Eurekas by the Score of 17-11

Overconfidence has been the downfall of many a ball team! This was clearly proven last night at Central Park in the final game of the third round of the City League softball playoffs between Eurekas, last year's titleholders, and Parfitt Brothers. With a 11-1 lead in the early stages, Eurekas apparently thought that they had the game tucked away but a terrific batting rally in the sixth frame turned confidence into defeat and Parfitts won, 17-11.

McMillan, who usually patrols left field for the contractors, started on the slab but was nicked for eight runs in the initial stanza. He was relieved in the second by "Scotty" Dowds, who had the Eureka's heavy artillery biting from the palm of his hand for the remainder of the fray. A few errors combined with the odd bingle gave last year's champs an 11-1 lead at the end of the third spasm.

The teams battled on to the sixth inning and Parfitts went to bat with the count standing 11-3 against them. However, they took the field in the first of the seventh, after batting Frank Partington's offerings all over the lot, with a four-run lead and the battle won. Parfitts added two more tallies, while they held their opponents scoreless.

Tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock Plimley & Ritchie "B" Section champions, will meet Parfitt Brothers in the first of a three-game series in the semi-finals. The second game will be played Friday and the third, if necessary, next Monday. The winners will clash with the "A" Section champs for the city championship.

COLUMBUS LACROSSE TEAM CINCHES TITLE

MONTREAL, July 29.—The Columbus lacrosse team virtually clinched the championship of the Quebec-Ontario Senior Amateur Lacrosse League Saturday by nosing out the present Dominion champions, Ottawa Emmetts, 6-5. Columbus have yet to replay a tie match with Cornwall here. A win for the local team will give them the right to travel west in the playdowns for the Mann Cup, while a loss will create a tie for first place between Emmetts and Columbus.

H.M.S. Colombo's Tennis Team Will Play Victoria

A team from the H.M.S. Colombo will meet a side from the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club this afternoon at the Willows Courts, in an inter-club match commencing at 3 o'clock.

Mackmen Handed 8-6 Setback by Chicago; Cubs Lengthen Lead

Joe McCarthy's Squad Widens Margin in National to Over Three Games as Pirates Lose —Ott Hits Twenty-Ninth as Giants Win

AMERICAN LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—A ninth-inning rally of four runs was not enough to pull the Athletics ahead today, and the White Sox won the closing engagement of the series from the league leaders, 8-6. The Sox belted Earnshaw from the box in the sixth with a three-run rally, Shores and Quinn finishing. Red Faber and Ted Lyons held the Athletics safe until the ninth.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	8	13	1
Philadelphia	6	8	1

Batteries—Faber, Lyons, Cross and Berg; Earnshaw, Shores, Quinn and Cochrane.

Only one game scheduled.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, July 29.—The Cubs overpowered Philadelphia for their eighth straight win today, 12 to 10, and stretched their lead in the National League pennant race to three and a half games, as Pittsburgh lost to Boston.

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	10	14	1
Chicago	12	15	0

Batteries—Benge and Lerian; Cvengros, Nehf, Malone and Taylor.

Pirates Nosed Out

PITTSBURGH, July 29.—A three-run ninth-inning rally by Boston gave them a 10-9 victory over Pittsburgh today and an even break in the four-game series. A homer by Lloyd Waner in the ninth failed to bring the bacon home to the Buccaneers.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	10	15	1
Pittsburgh	9	10	3

Batteries—Delaney, Jones, Cantwell and Spohrer; Petty, Meine, Swetonic, Kremer and Hargreaves, Hemsley.

Ott Hits Twenty-Ninth Homer

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—The New York Giants combed a variety of St. Louis pitching for seventeen hits today, winning easily behind the steady hurling of Larry Benton, 11 to 2. Ott hits twenty-ninth homer.

	R.	H.	E.
New York	11	17	0
St. Louis	2	10	2

Batteries—Benton and Hogan; Sherdel, Holland, Frankhouse, McGraw and Smith, Jonnard.

Robins Wallop Reds

CINCINNATI, July 29.—The Brooklyn Robins ended a five-game series with the Cincinnati Reds by knocking Red Lucas from the box to win 10 to 2. Ray Moss held the Reds safe.

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	10	17	1
Cincinnati	2	6	3

Batteries—Moss and Deberry; Lucas, Ehrhardt and Gooch.

WRIGHT WILL QUIT TOURNAMENT TENNIS

Ranking Canadian Net Star Will Settle Down to Medical Profession

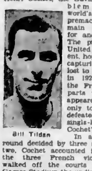

TORONTO, July 29.—Dr. Jack Wright, who won the Canadian tennis championship here Sunday, is through with tennis in so far as tournament play is concerned. He will return to Montreal to settle down to his profession of medicine. Wright will, however, be available for Canada's Davis Cup team.

MAISON LAFITTE, France, July 29.—Count Derivaud's Chateau Bouscaut won the 100,000 francs prix Robert Papin over a 1,200-metre course Sunday. The winner paid 5 to 1 in the betting. Bulldog was second and Rose Belle third.

French Net Stars Retain Davis Cup For Another Year

Capture Finals From United States, Three Matches to Two—Cochet Is Star—Tilden Defeats Jean Borotra

PARIS, July 29.—Thanks, chiefly to that little tennis machine, Henri Cochet, the Davis Cup, emblem of the world's team supremacy, will remain in France for another year. The pick of the United States talent, hopeful of recapturing the cup lost to the tricolor in 1927, stormed the French ramparts when they appeared weakest, only to fall back defeated almost single-handed by Cochet's mastery.

Bill Tilden

In a challenge round decided by three matches to two, Cochet accounted for two of the three French victories and walked off the courts of Roland Garros Stadium the undisputed hero of the series.

With the score standing two matches to one against them, the Americans had no more than an outside chance to pull the series out of the fire when the final day's play began yesterday.

Big Bill Tilden, himself a heroic figure in many a Davis Cup combat, came through in gallant fashion, trouncing Jean Borotra, weaker half of the French team, 4-6, 6-1, 0-4, 7-55.

COCHET UNBEATABLE

The tall Philadelphian's victory squared the series and left the issue to be decided in the final singles match between Cochet and George Lott, twenty-four-year-old star from the University of Chicago, playing his first Davis Cup challenge round.

In a crisis like this, Cochet was unbeatable. He stormed his way through Lott's defence for a 6-1, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3 triumph.

Lott fell before Borotra in his first singles match on Friday.

American supporters obtained their chief thrill perhaps, on Saturday, when they saw the young Americans, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, Wimbledon champions, trounce Cochet and Borotra in the doubles in straight sets. With Lott, Allison, Van Ryn and other youngsters improving rapidly, some American experts have hopes that the cup will return to the United States within the next few years.

But the chances are that France will do little worrying for some time to come—not at least as long as they have Cochet, Borotra, Rene Lacoste and others to depend upon.

DEL WOLF MAY GET CHANCE TO FIGHT MAX SCHMELING

VANCOUVER, July 29.—The ten-round return match scheduled here between "Dangerous" Del Wolf, slugging Bellingham heavyweight, and Fred Gaudette, Yakima, has been indefinitely postponed by the Yakima fighter owing to a couple of cracked ribs secured in their last encounter. Gaudette expects to be ready within three weeks.

In the meantime, Jack Allen, who is handling Wolf's ring affairs, is negotiating with Tacoma and Seattle promoters for Wolf's appearance against Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight sensation, in either Seattle or Tacoma, on August 5 or 6.

Vancouver Advances In Polo Tournament

VANCOUVER, July 29. — Fort Lewis and Vancouver "A" poloists got off to a flying start Monday afternoon at Brighouse Park, in the first day's play of the Northwest International Polo tournament. Fort Lewis defeated the Olympic Riding and Driving Club of Seattle by 6-4, while Vancouver "A" triumphed over the Vancouver "B" squad by 8-2.

JOKERS BEAT MILLMEN, 8-3; REGAIN LEAD

Sidney Pushed Out of Play-Offs as Result of Loss—Errors Prove Costly to Millmen's Cause

TRIPLE PLAY IS MADE BY SIDNEY

JOKERS jumped back into the premier berth in the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League last night, when they took Sidney into camp and handed them an 8-3 setback at the Royal Athletic Park. A record crowd witnessed the struggle, which was one of the most interesting and thrilling seen at the local ball lot this season.

The setback put the millmen definitely out of the running for the play-offs and assured the Tillicums of third place.

Tomorrow night Sidney will battle the Sons of Canada in a postponed fixture, and should they happen to upset the old applecart, the Canadians will finish in second place, one game behind the Jokers. On the other hand, if the Sons of Canada come through with a win, they will go into a tie with the Jokers for first berth and a play-off series for first and second place in the league standing will have to be played.

ERRORS COSTLY

Bad boners at critical times and the inability to hit in the pinches caused the downfall of the millmen in last night's struggle. In the third inning Quance, covering the keystone cushion for Sidney, went fluey, and this, coupled with three singles, gave the Jokers four markers.

Everything went along like a song for the next three innings and Wade Steele, on the slab for the millmen, held the opposition to two scattered bingles. But in the seventh the Jokers took to his offerings and bunched six in a row for four more runs.

Stickney, on the mound for the Jokers, went along for six innings and was only nicked for four safeties. In the seventh he showed signs of weakening, and after two men were down he got big hearted and issued two free trips to the initial cushion. This he followed with a bad peg to third and a couple of wild pitches, and before he got back to his stride to breeze Simpson for the third out three runs, the only runs that Sidney scored, were marked up.

Jokers had a nice break in the eighth when, with the cushions loaded and two down, D'Arcy muffed Quance's line drive, but in so doing booted it to Barry at second, who simply had to touch the sack for the third out.

TRIPLE PLAY

Frank Lines was given a great hand in the third when he started the first triple play of the season and caught the Jokers napping with the cushions loaded. Lines pegged to Brown at first and the latter relayed it to Brousseau at third. Brousseau pegged it back to Lines, who outran Stickney between third and home and Smith between second and third. He started after Devereaux, who was between second and first, but the latter was just a little too fast. The ball traveled from Lines to Brown, back to Lines and then to Brown, and the triple play was completed.

Brown, of Sidney, and Downs, of the Jokers, led the sluggers, each getting three hits out of five trips to the plate.

Steward's Cup Race to Be Run at Goodwood

Twenty-Two Horses Expected to Face Barrier in Famous Race—Jockeys and Probable Starters Are Announced

GOODWOOD, England, July 29.—A very open race is expected in tomorrow's renewal of the Steward's Cup over the six-furlong course, the feature of the opening day of the famous turf meeting at Goodwood Park. The race, since establishment in 1840, has become one of the finest short distance handicaps on the English turf. A score or more horses were listed tonight among the probable starters.

The probable starters in the Steward's Cup with jockeys are given: Songe (H. Wragg), Oak Ridge (J. Beavey), Square Rockritte, Navigator (C. Richards), Golden Gracie (Joe Childs), Dark Lantern (Hine), Fleeting Memory (Parryman), Guards Parade (Dines), Flying Phoenix (Ray), Caballero (Dick), Costaki Bassi (Beary), Yoho (Brennan), St. Forunate (S. Wragg), High Tide, Beach Comber (Turtler), Dark Fire (F. Fox), Six Wheeler (Weston), Inchmarlo (Robertson), Fingle Bridge (Lowery), Bearskin (Stephenson), Polliwog (Tobey), Trincomalee).

SINGLES TENNIS CHAMP WILL BE NAMED TONIGHT

Jack Matson and Jack Fourace Will Play Final Set of Five-Set Match—Score Stands Two-All

DAVEY AND BUTLER WIN DOUBLES TITLE

One thing is sure, and that is that the Esquimalt men's singles tennis champion for 1929 will be named Jack, but just whether or not it will be Jack Matson or Jack Fouracre will not be known until the final set of their five-set match is played on the Hillcrest courts tonight.

After a four-set battle last night between Matson, defending champion, and Fouracre, the other finalist, the score stood two sets each. Matson won the second and third, and Fouracre the first and fourth. The match was called at this stage on account of darkness.

Miss Parkinson and Mrs. Kensington, defending champions in the ladies' doubles, repeated their success Sunday when they copped the title for a second year with a two-set victory over Miss Stevens and Miss Tindall. The scores were 6-2, 6-3.

Ralph Butler and Herb Davey, two of the most promising of Hillcrest's younger players, won the men's doubles title after a keenly-fought five-set match with Jack Matson and Ivan Temple. The scores, 1-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

After dropping the first set 5-7, Mrs. Moncton and Herb Davey came through in the next two sets with scores of 6-0, 6-3, and won the mixed doubles final from Mr and Mrs. Kensington.

SOUTH PARK TO MEET OAKLANDS

Third of Five-Game Series for City Lacrosse Championship Will Be Played This Evening

Oaklands and South Park lacrosse teams will meet this evening at 6.30 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park in the third of a five-game series for the city championship.

With one victory each the squads will be out with their most formidable lineups and their objective will be victory. Johnny Johnson and his band of Oakland stickhandlers walked off the field victorious in the initial encounter, but Skipper Bill Plater and his crew reversed the tables in the next fray to even the series.

South Park team, organised this year, has done exceedingly well in local circles and is comprised of some of the fastest and best gutted-stick merchants in the city. Ekart, a former member of the Vancouver Mann Cup team, and Hardy, one-time member of the Regina Vics, are two experienced men on the line-up who steady down the younger players during a battle.

The remainder of both teams are well known to the followers of the game, having performed on local fields for several seasons. Frank Smith will referee and the line-ups follow:

Oaklands—Borde, Burnett, Taylor, C. Chapman, Alexander, Merriman, L. Chapman, Williams, A. Chapman, Sweeney, Cockin, Nicol, Duckworth, Viggers and McKenzie.

South Park—Bradley, C. Bissell, Sheret, D. Bissell, Bryant, Jenks, Brown, Ekart, Cann, Plater, Hardy, Corry, Taylor, Margison, Clarke, Akins and McDonald.

B.C. Golfers Expected to Give Stiff Competition

Strong Team Will Represent Province in Match at Jasper Park This Year—West to Furnish Three Formidable Squads

WINNIPEG, July 29.—If Eastern golf experts are expecting any walkover for the teams which will represent Ontario and Quebec in the interprovincial match which immediately precedes the Canadian Amateur and Western Canada Amateur championships over the Jasper Park Lodge course, August 16-24, they are in for a shock. At least three of the Western provinces, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia will be represented by teams of very considerable strength, while Saskatchewan, considering the ability available, can also be counted upon to make a showing.

The Manitoba team was chosen today. On it are three players who have won the Manitoba Amateur championship and who can be counted upon to make their weight felt in the fastest company. The fourth member is one of the longest drivers the West knows and who is always at his best on a good course. No one will find fault with the Manitoba team, which will comprise the following golfing stars: A. A. Weir, Niakwa Country Club, and the winner of the Manitoba championship on Saturday, Carson MacWilliams, Elmhurst, provincial champion last year, and C. L. Hodgman, Niakwa, championship of the province in 1927. The fourth member will be D. J. Kennedy, St. Charles Country Club.

On the Alberta team there will certainly be two amateur champions of Western Canada. Jimmy Mountifield, the present holder of the title, and Jack Cuthbert, former champion and a golfer with an imposing string of honors. In choosing the other two players the selection committee has a difficult task before it, but the general belief is the choice will rest between Ronnie MacWilliams and Gordon MacWilliams, of Calgary, and Harvey Day, of Edmonton.

All of these players with the exception of Mountifield have been playing superb golf this year. Mountifield has not been up to last year's standard and is considered to be somewhat off his game at present.

YOUTHFUL TEAM

Youth will likely be served on the British Columbia team. There is talent galore at the Coast and the selection committee faces somewhat of a poser in nominating the team. It is generally believed that the honor will go to Alfred Bull, Monty Hill, Freddy Wood and Cecil Colville. These players have shown the best form in local competitions this year. Bull, who won the Jasper Park Lodge Silver Totem Pole tournament last Fall, won the Jericho Club championship this Summer. Hill, who carried Bull to the eighteenth green in the Totem Pole event last September, won the city championship this Summer and has several record-breaking performances to his credit. He is twenty-two. Wood, who is twenty-one, was the city champion last year and was runner-up this season, finishing with a 70, or two below par for the eighteen holes. Cecil Colville is noted for his long driving and a steady competitive player. Other players whose names will be considered are Harry Jones, former winner of the Jasper Totem Pole event and finalist in the Quilchena Club championship this year; Jack Fraser, former city champion; K. C. Allen, of Victoria, and formerly of Winnipeg, a consistently steady player in competition, and Bob Oelletly, one of the veteran golfers of the Coast.

The Saskatchewan team will not likely be chosen until the Saskatchewan championships are played at Regina next week, and the names will likely suggest themselves from those players who reach the quarter-finals. Among these it is believed will be two youngsters of much promise. Phil Morse, the 1928 Saskatchewan and Alberta champion, who hails from Saskatoon, is only twenty years of age and an excellent prospect. The second youngster is Reg Young, also of Saskatoon, who consistently shoots in the middle 70's.

DODGE NINE OUT FOR WIN TONIGHT

Will Oppose Ford Nationals at Willows at 6:15—Hughes and "Doc" Todd to Heave

Winning their last two games, the Dodge baseball nine will be out tonight to try to make it three in a row at the expense of the Ford Nationals. If the Dodges succeed in winning their remaining games, it will mean a triple tie for the play-off positions, the Fords being already ensconced in the premier position in the Victoria Garage Baseball League. The game will be played at the Willows tonight at 6.15 o'clock.

Hughes will do the heavy work for the Dodges, while "Doc" Todd will twirl for the Fords. Bob Ross will umpire.

CANADIAN WELTER CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY JACKIE PHILLIPS

TORONTO, July 29 — Jackie Phillips, Toronto, won the Canadian welterweight championship here tonight by decisively defeating Red Bragen, Toronto, in a ten-round bout. The new champion won eight rounds, one was even and Bragen outsmarted Phillips in the other.

RISKO GETS CALL OVER EMMET ROCCO IN CLEVELAND BOUT

CLEVELAND, O., July 29. — Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, won a decision over Emmet Rocco, of Ellwood City, Pa., in a twelve-round bout here tonight. Rocco won a decision from Risko a few weeks ago.

N.Y. OPENING IS MARKED BY FEEBLE TRADE

No Known Cause for Depression as Some Highly Favorable Earning Reports Were Issued

MONEY MARKET IS THOUGHT REASON

NEW YORK, July 29.—The stock market limped into the new week very feeble today with scores of issues sagging from more than 8 points, while a few of the high-priced issues tumbled from 12 to 18 points. Total sales fell off to 2,760,220 shares, the smallest full-session turnover since June.

The market displayed practically no resistance to the moderate selling, traders appearing discouraged with the continued uncertainty in the money market and convinced that a technical reaction in the stock market could no longer be avoided. Call money renewed at 8 per cent and moved up to 10 in the afternoon. A particularly perplexing development was a further loss by the Bank of England of about $15,000,000 in gold on the Continent.

There was nothing in the day's individual news to depress the market. On the contrary, another assortment of highly favorable earnings statements appeared.

The utilities came in for particularly effective selling, such issues as American Telephone, Western Union, North American Company, American Power & Light and Standard Gas & Electric, lost 5 points and more. General Electric fell back nearly 12 points to 358, but closed 361. Chemicals were noticeably heavy, Commercial Solvents selling down about 8 points. Such issues as Allied Chemical, American Can, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, National Biscuit and Westinghouse Electric lost 4 points and more. Profit-taking also was notable in the rails, New York Central scoring a loss of about 5 points. Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson and Norfolk & Western also lost several points.

Commercial Investment Trust was one of the few issues to respond to a good earnings statement, rising more than 6 points on the announcement that the first half n[illegible] had set a new record, equal to $5.5[illegible] a share. American Locomotive, which also showed a remarkable upturn in earnings, lost 4 points. F. G. Shattock was also among the isolated strong spots, selling up 8 1-2 points. Union Pacific was up about 3 points. Radio was set up a couple of points, but lost some of its gain. Eastman Kodak was bid up more than 4 points to the accompaniment of rumors of a split-up, but more than lost its gain.

Foreign exchanges held firm, sterling mounting 1-8 of a cent to $4.85 1-2. Francs also were in demand.

The downward trend of the bond market, which started last week after a moderately long period of firmness, was resumed today and price averages slipped to the lowest level in the last three years.

Convertibles were depressed by the weakness of stocks, but the standard rails, industrials and utilities kept them company in lower ground.

REPORTS OF CROP DETERIORATION CONTINUE IN SPRING WHEAT AREA

Outside Interest in Corn and Oats Broadens—Rye Firm Early but Weakened

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, July 29.—Continued reports of crop deterioration in the Spring wheat area with high temperatures again in evidence, led to free buying, which advanced prices as much as 3 cents over Saturday's finish, with December and March selling at new highs on the crop, but heavy profit-taking developed, and a reaction followed to below the previous finish. Good support was in evidence on the decline.

Export demand at the seaboard reported as slow, although Amoaha said the basis the Gulf was the best so far, and there was no pressure to sell. Forecast was for continued hot and dry weather. Argentine also remains dry, but there was a little rain in Eastern Australia. Liverpool closed 1 to 1 1-4 higher.

Outside interest in corn and oats broadened materially as the result of unfavorable weather conditions and deferred deliveries of both grains advanced to new highs for the season.

December corn received the bulk of the increased trade, moving up 3 cents, but the late decline in wheat led to profit-taking and a recession from the best figures.

Southwestern messages claimed rain was needed. Rye was firmer with wheat early, but weakened later.

Whitney Letter

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Service, today says:

While today's performance was not in line with expectations, in fact, decidedly to the contrary, there is no change in the general market outlook, which points to an emergency from the present period of irregularity to be made in the form of an advance and in the near future, without being able to definitely call the day on which the action will take place. Credit uncertainty is again the principal restraining factor, but this will be overcome just as it has been on past occasions.

Predictions of reactions and accompanying advices to sell stocks are being followed by many and this and nothing else should result in a substantial reduction in Thursday's loan statement. Meanwhile, continued loss of gold by the Bank of England will bring renewed predictions of an advance in that bank's rediscount rate, but I do not believe the advance will be made since there it is recognised that the present drain is on of nonrecurrent character. This will undoubtedly be taken care of by bringing into play the elastic provisions of last year's currency and banknote account. Additional relief will be afforded sterling through the Federal Reserve Board's policy of financing the crop movement here, which will take the form of purchase of agricultural bills by the Federal Reserve Banks at a preferential rate within their own districts, these bills being carried to maturity in the United States instead of abroad, as is usually the way.

American Radiator & Standard Sanitary has completed an approximate 8-point reaction from its record top, a reaction which was accompanied by much bearish propaganda and predictions of poor second-quarter earnings statement. This stock is a purchase at this time both for initial commitment and for the purpose of averaging on stock which may have been bought at higher prices.

Allied Chemical has completed an approximate $40 reaction and is a purchase, as is Commercial Solvents which has had a similar reaction. In the rail group the same applies to Erie, which has sustained a 6 point setback, and St. Paul, which has completed a reaction of a similar amount. In the utilities, American & Foreign Power has given the best market performance and is the best purchase in that group. Elsewhere, throughout the list buy U.S. Steel and Remington-Rand.

Curb—Despite general market conditions, an advance in Pitney-Bowes is well under way and under 30 the stock should be bought. Continue to use prices below 70 for the purchase of Grigsby Grunow.

Facts are better than bragging in advertising.

* * *

"Our product is recognized as the best and purest of its kind."

Statements such as the above are one of the most common weaknesses of advertising. An examination of any magazine or paper will find scores of ads using just such expressions. But the public, from constant experience with them, has learned to take such statements "with a grain of salt."

The ad which tells some definite fact about a commodity is much stronger than the one which makes an idle and unproved boast. For example, in one magazine the following two motorboat advertisements were found:

"Superior to all others for Safety, Comfort, Durability and Speed."

"A stock boat entered last September in the Championship Race, New York to Poughkeepsie and return, maintained an average speed of 22.57 miles for the entire distance."

Which is the stronger ad? Doesn't the first strike you as meaningless chatter, which might appear in a thousand ads and not carry conviction? The other actual statement of performance, however, has a very definite, constructive effect upon the reader.

Two More Banks Of U.S.A. Fail To Open Doors

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 29.—The Brockward County Bank & Trust Company, of Cocoa, one of the oldest financial institutions in the state, and the Melbourne State Bank of Melbourne, failed to open today. They were placed in the hands of the State Banking Department with the explanation that the closings were made to protect depositors.

AMULET LEADS THE TURNOVER

HAS NET GAIN OF FIVE POINTS AFTER TRADING WITHIN NARROW MARGIN

Stock Expected to Be Active Until Extent of Recent Strike Is Determined

(Stobie, Forlong & Co.)

TORONTO, July 29.—Today's session of the Toronto Standard Stock Exchange was quiet and steady. Amulet led the turnover, trading within a narrow margin near the last close price and closing at 2.10 for a net gain of five points.

While no news has been received regarding Amulet's drilling operations over the week-end, it is thought that sufficient interest has been stimulated to keep the new stock active until the operations determine the extent of the new copper ore body.

International Nickel dropped 40 to 47.50; Noranda, Sherritt-Gordon, Sudbury Basin, Teck-Hughes and Ventures closed with no material change after trading in a small range. Dome, Pend Oreille and Mining Corporation had net gains, the latter being the most prominent in advancing 20 points to 4.15. Newbec dropped 4 to 40.

Oils were spotty, with Dalhousie, Eastcrest, Sterling Pacific, Ajax and Baltac prominent for strength. Associated Oil dropped 15 to 4.05; Home 25 to 22.75. The remainder of the oil board was fairly firm.

Wall Street Journal

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Drives on pivotal stocks bring good buying into evidence. Nervousness over the credit caused further heavy selling at the start of the new week. Funds were in active demand in connection with the month-end settlements, and the call rate advanced to 10 per cent in early afternoon from the renewal charge of 8 per cent.

While money was being taken out of the market, substantial liquidation went ahead in many sections of the list.

Special pressure converged on the utility shares due to the belief that the technical position of the group had been weakened by recent violent bullish demonstrations. Extensive declines from their recent highs took place in Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Standard Gas, United Corporation, and other recent features on the upside. People's Gas moved against the trend, however, advancing sharply in response to announcement of a capital readjustment for Middlewest utilities. This was the first split-up ever authorized in the Insull group, and the departure from precedent increased the expectation of similar action with regard to People's Gas, which also has Insull sponsorship.

Selling spread from the utilities to the principal industrials and rails as the morning progressed and the whole market was under severe pressure around noon.

However, most of the offerings came from commission houses, which were looking for a technical reaction. This lightening of accounts appeared to strengthen inside conditions in the market and general improvement occurred during the afternoon.

CALMONT OIL WAS LEADER ON EXCHANGE

Compared With Last Week's Prices Market Showed a General Tendency to Improvement

TONE STRONGER BUT TRADE FEATURELESS

VANCOUVER, July 29.—Calmont Oil showed decided strength during the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange and held well during the afternoon, opening at 4.85 and closing at 4.87. Dallas made headway in the morning closing at 2.85 after opening at 2.75 and thus established a new high. A. P. Consolidated was steady. George Copper was quiet, closing at 8.35. The general tendency in metals was upwards compared with closing prices of last week. There was only one sale of Pend Oreille this afternoon at 5.75. Noble Five traded briskly at 63-64 in the morning and did not move this afternoon.

CROP NEWS ALL BULLISH AGAIN

NOT MUCH OUTSIDE BUYING IN THE MARKET AT WINNIPEG

All Months Make New Highs on the Movement—Coarse Grain Very Dull

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, July 29.—Wheat. Crop news was all bullish again today with no rains over the week-end in Spring wheat territory on the other side of the line, while temperatures were moderately high. Opened strong, prices gaining 3 3-4 to 4 cents over the close Saturday during the first half of the session, but the market ran into heavy liquidation and profit-taking, which found the market without any adequate support, as the buying was practically all local, and the market eased off, and, when the United States visible figures were published, showing an increase of almost 12,000,000 bushels for the week, which was said to be a record, the market sold off rather sharply.

There was not much outside buying coming into the market, but there was some short covering in the July early that was credited to foreign account as there are no shorts in the cash month here. All months made new highs on this movement and for season, and July reaching 182 1-2 and the October 172. The two railroad crop reports received this morning were decidedly bullish, showing that the wheat and coarse grains had suffered materially during the past week under very high temperatures and practically no precipitation. Crops on stubble, Fall and Spring ploughed are said to be practically a total failure while Summer fallow which has stood up remarkably well under the dry, hot conditions, is now fast deteriorating.

The local cash market was very dull, spreads broke from 1-2 to 2 cents. Only a few odd loads were sold over the week-end for export. Millers were doing nothing. Buyers appear to be waiting until the July is out of the way. The Canadian visible increased 399,000 bushels for the week and now stands at 96,067,000 as compared with 81,930,000 at this time last year. Winnipeg futures closed 1-8 lower to 1 7-8 higher.

Coarse Grains: These markets were very dull. There was nothing doing by way of consumptive demand, either domestic or export. Some speculative buying early, based on the strength in wheat, but the upturns met opposition and liquidation. Oats closed 1-4 lower, barley about unchanged, rye 1 cent to 1-4 off.

Flax: A little easier at the close. Trade very light and showing some signs of being overbought. No feature. Final prices from 3 to 5 cents lower.

Ticker Forecast

(B.C. BOND CORPORATION, LTD.)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Houdaille Hershey—The slight recovery recorded by this issue in the latter part of last week was in response to the semi-annual statement published a few days ago. On the basis of this report the company earned $8.46 on the class A stock and $4.18 on the class B for the first six months of 1929. The earnings for the first six months are only slightly below the total earnings for the entire year of 1928. The response made by the stock was even less than moderate, but we believe that general market conditions were responsible for the lack of enthusiasm for this issue just now. The market has been advancing for a considerable time and in the latter part of the week was under the influence of heavy profit-taking. Under such conditions the market usually fails to respond to any constructive news no matter how important it is. The figures, however, will not be forgotten, and as soon as the corrective reaction has spent itself, stocks in an attractive position will show rapid gains. Houdaille Hershey Corporation not only recorded a splendid increase in sales, but has announced at the time of the publication of the latest report that all large contracts with the leading automobile manufacturers were retained and considerable new business has been secured. The prospects for the balance of the year, therefore, appear exceedingly satisfactory and we look for a forward movement in the stock in the near future. It is interesting to note that the statement for the second quarter shows a remarkable improvement over that of the first quarter of this year. The net available for class A during the second quarter was $7 per share and $2.85 on the class B. The total figures do not include the earnings of a recently acquired subsidiary which, if added, would swell the total available for the stock. We advise accumulating Houdaille Hershey.

Miller & Son—When we recommended this issue a little while ago we pointed to the position of this company and recommended purchases not so much on the strength of a runaway market, as on the prospects of steady appreciation in value. The action of this stock last week was in accordance with our expectations. Miller & Son moved cautiously but steadily into new high territory. After gaining a new high early in the week it experienced a setback of only one point, but then picked up again and moved into new high territory. Those who look for a stock which will show gains of ten or more points in a single day will probably not be satisfied with Miller & Son. Those who want an issue that promises gradual appreciation in value, and strong resistance against reactions have excellent prospects in commitments in this stock. The company's net earnings for the first six months show a gain of 50 per cent compared with the net for the first six months in 1928. Being a manufacturer and retail distributor of its products, the company is always able to keep its inventory closely within the needs of the market, thus eliminating losses usually recorded by many retail shoe distributors who find themselves holding large inventories in shoes for which the demand slackens down. Should I. Miller continue at the same rate of increase in earnings it should show better than $7 per share for 1929. We again advise purchases.

The volume of trading in the short session on Saturday indicated reluctance on the part of the trading community to dispose of holdings. Only individual issues suffered from liquidation. This process, however, was going on during the second half of last week, and when combined, it shows a rather definite trend among the trading community to take profit. Under such circumstances close watch of the movements is necessary and special care in making new commitments is urged. The market still has to demonstrate its ability to resist further selling. Should it continue in this direction for another day or two, with no heavy volume of offerings, then we will be inclined to consider the market as having exhibited power to absorb profit-taking in good fashion and the next turn will again be upward. The crucial moment will probably come this afternoon. At the opening we look for lively trading with offers below the demand, and therefore higher levels should be recorded. By mid-day trading should slacken down considerably and then attempts to force the market down should be made. If these attempts do not prove successful then an advancing market will follow. On the other hand, heavy sales with little resistance will bring out further liquidation later on, and such a movement is likely to develop in a substantial selling wave. Conditions in the money market will remain unfavorable during the major part of this week. A definite change, however, will take place shortly after the first of the month. It must be remembered that Anaconda Copper is paying off on Thursday approximately $110,000,000 to its bond holders, and a goodly portion of the proceeds will be invested, or is being invested now in common stocks. A part of the increase in brokers' loans reported last week, and to be reported this week is due to purchases made in anticipation of the receipts from Anaconda. Together with all other payments made on the first of the month substantial funds will be available for stock market purposes, and any reaction that may develop in the meantime will find good support from investment buying. A short position on a number of issues that have recorded extremely large gains recently is justified, but all such sales should be protected by stop loss orders.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel deserve to be singled out today. Throughout the latter part of last week profit-taking of substantial dimensions took place in the general list. Some of the leading issues lost as much as 20 and 30 points during the selling wave, and even the strongest group, the rails, gave considerable ground. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and several others in the steel group were outstanding exceptions. At its lowest levels throughout last week, U.S. Steel was barely 5 points from the top of all time, and immediately after the first wave of profit taking subsided, Steel turned around and made a high for all time. Bethlehem Steel acted similarly. This action shows clearly that the forward movement in these two issues has not reached its climax. Both will undoubtedly respond slightly to further selling, but not to a sufficient extent to warrant a change in position on either issue. The action of these stocks is so satisfactory that even the prospects of further realization, which we believe will take place during this week, justified recommendation of further purchases.

Union Pacific proportionately lost less than other rails during the realization wave in the latter part of last week. The position of this company is exceptionally satisfactory and therefore the stock should be on the first to show stubborn resistance to further selling. Here and there forced liquidation may appear, and such a movement should be utilized for extending the position of Union Pacific.

American Steel Foundries responded to the buying movement in equipment issues and should show further gains this week. The advance in this group took place in the latter part of last week in place of reactionary tendencies in the general list. The position of the railway equipment industry has been discussed by us frequently in the past few weeks. We believe the improvement continues and leading enterprises in this field will record ing this year. The position of impressive increases in earnings during American Steel Foundries is particularly attractive because this company was one of the few in the industry which was able to cover dividend requirements even in periods of severe depression. The future outlook of "FJ" warrants a long position on the stock.

STOCK MARKET PRICES LOWER

APPREHENSION AS TO MONEY SITUATION INDUCES LIQUIDATION

Industrials Sell Off in Quick Fashion—Rail Shares Lose Ground Rapidly

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Apprehension with respect to the money situation over the coming month-end served to induce further liquidation today and the market prices were generally lower. American Telephone and Telegraph was a feature of pronounced weakness in the utility group, while a number of other issues in this section of the list was forced to absorb heavy realizing and reacted sharply. In the industrial section, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse and others followed the general trend and sold off in quick fashion. Atlantic Refining was an exception to the general run of petroleum issues and registered a fair-sized price advance in response to the excellent earnings exhibit issued by the company today for the initial six months of the current year.

United States Steel was another issue which gave a good account of itself most of the day. Directors of the latter company are scheduled to meet tomorrow and the stock was under active accumulation on hopes of an extra disbursement being awarded to shareholders. Declines in the various copper issues were for the most part meagre. Early buying of the metal today for European account approximated three million pounds. Buying of copper continues on a moderate scale with a number of consumers holding aloof from the market in an endeavor to cause some recession in the current price of the metal.

Selling continued in the early afternoon and a number of rail shares lost ground rapidly. Some of the realizing in the carrier shares was probably influenced by consternation over the effects of drought damage to crops upon railway tonnage of late Fall and Winter. Today's news appears to have but little effect on the action of the market. Call money renewed at 8 per cent and advanced to 10 per cent in the afternoon session.

In the final hour of trading the shares of Radio Corporation were in good deamnd and the issue staged a sharp recovery from its present low. Third quarter earnings of the latter company are expected to make a favorable showing and this factor gave further impetus to the day's buying. Rates for accommodations may remain rather stiff over the balance of the current month and this factor may serve to promote further liquidation in the general list.

SPORTS BOOM IN SHANGHAI

Because of the interest in sports in Shanghai, China, a French company is promoting the erection of a sports auditorium in the French concessions of the city. Amateur and professional contests, including boxing, pelota basque, tennis and ice skating will be promoted. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 5,000, and permit the play of games by day or night in all seasons.

President James Maloney, of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, said to a reporter during the recent convention in Atlantic City:

"We glass bottle blowers favor the return of beer and light wines because, for one thing we will then blow 5,000,000 gross more bottles than we do now, and also because for another thing, prohibition does not prohibit.

"Prohibitists deny this sad fact, but their denials remind me of a paragraph in a country newspaper that said.

"'We wish to deny the statement published in our last week's issue, that James L. Jones was drunk on Monday the 16th. It was Sunday the 15th'."

Ontario Holds in Reserve Great Area in Northwest Unvisited by Prospectors

Optimism, greater than that he had ever felt before, was the keynote of the tale brought back to civilization by Walter C. Cain, Deputy Minister of Lands, when he arrived in Toronto from Sioux Lookout, where he had been confined in hospital after the conclusion of the treaty flight.

"I have a greater feeling of optimism in regard to New Ontario than I ever felt before," declared Mr. Cain. "It is a wonderful country, wealthy beyond estimation. We had a perfect trip, bar the accident to the ill-fated plane at Osnaburgh House in which Sandy Morrison lost his life."

The fact that caught Mr. Cain's attention more, perhaps, than any other is the abundance of timber lands in the hitherto unexploited area. Thousands of miles of timber, he stated, stretch through the northland, especially spruce.

"I feel that we have a marvelous supply of timber," he stated. "By the time we will have started cutting that great supply and while we are cutting it, the old fields will be giving birth to a new forest. We will have a continuous crop, the one area reforesting itself naturally while the other is being cut."

INDIANS BURN FOREST

Greater care in protection is being seen in the north, yet still greater care is necessary, stated Mr. Cain. Only eight per cent of the forest fires are caused by lightning, showing that the fires in the northern area are caused by Indians as prospectors have not yet penetrated the new field.

"Knowing this I took special pains to explain to the Indians just what preservation of forests would mean," stated the Ontario commissioner. "I explained why repletion of the forests would mean the drying up of the lakes and the loss of fish.

"Then I asked them where would the marten get his food and where the beaver would build his dams. They grasped the picture readily and expressed interest in the work of the forestry patrol service.

"Captain Maxwell and I could plainly see and trace while we were flying, the lightning blazes in the forests. The lightning would strike on high ground and then the fire would travel through the timber down to the edge of the nearest lake. We also found camp fires on the edges of the lakes where the Indians have camped. In most of the fires the rangers would find the remains of a camp fire and trace the burned out area down to it."

Airplanes are undoubtedly the only means of combatting forest fires, stated Mr. Cain. By means of big planes, which could carry six or eight men and two engines, men could be rushed into any area in short time.

CANOES OF LITTLE USE

"The day of the canoe is done except for running men up small creeks after they are at the scene of the fire," he said. "If the men can get there, there is no question that they can get the fire under control if it has been noticed in any reasonable time. There is not the slightest doubt that the airplane is the means of saving Ontario's forests."

A peculiar incident of the trip was the landing of the Ontario plane on Round Lake. Forced to seek the nearest lake to the regular airplane path, Captain Maxwell had ceased to buck the wind when he realized his gasoline was running low, and had drifted with the strong wind.

"Our landing on Round Lake was entirely not scheduled," stated Mr. Cain, "yet we found an encampment of Indians waiting for us. Through some mistake this particular band, made up of Round Lake Indians and a neighboring tribe, had gathered across the lake and built a little encampment. They were waiting for us and we were not supposed to land within a hundred miles of them.

"That night we had built our camp fire and I was looking at the lake when I suddenly saw two canoes coming. They were plainly seen in the bluish light of the moon. They came to greet us. It was the strangest coincidence that they should have expected us there and then when we did come, it was entirely inadvertent and unexpected.

Mr. Cain said that it was difficult to exactly know at all times just where the plane was. As evidence of this he pointed to the fact that Round Lake, the spot where they were forced to land, was not even charted on their maps, yet it had been an eight-mile paddle across the lake to the Indian encampment. Large lakes were not charted and thousands of little lakes were dotted all over.

"Being lost in the North in a plane is just whatever it may seem to the flyers," he stated. "We were described as lost, yet we knew where we were when we were forced down. We knew it was just a matter of waiting for a little while until another plane came along."

It was at this point that Mr. Cain was stricken with the terrible pains which caused Captain Maxwell to rush him to Sioux Lookout Hospital.

SPENT AWFUL NIGHT

"That was certainly an awful night," said Mr. Cain. "We had just laid down to sleep, Captain Maxwell next to me and the two prospectors whom we had met beside him. I felt the pain coming on. It was blowing heavily out of the northwest, and as I sat up the tent jerked in the wind. I grabbed it to hold it and then the pain really hit me.

"Those boys kept the fire going all night, while I lay in agony. They did that with rain falling in terrific torrents and the wind blowing like a hurricane. It certainly was a terrible night, one that I won't forget quickly."

Some incidents were related by the commissioner of events at Trout Lake. He and Captain Maxwell arrived there one day ahead of the Dominion plane. All the Indians of the area were gathered together for the signing of the treaty at the mission.

"We gathered them together and had a talk," said Mr. Cain. "The squaws and papooses all sat at one side of the little mission and the Indians at the other. The way they squatted in the aisles and everywhere else, there were about 400 inside and 250 outside. They were a wonderful picture, the squaws with their geegaw shawls and papooses and the Indians all decked up for the occasion.

"They have hymn books in their Cree syllabic and each carried his or her hymn book in a little pouch of skin or cloth fastened at the top with a draw string. When they sang the Anglican hymns and chanted the litany their voices echoed across the lake and back again in the twilight. It possessed the most sanctified air I ever felt; I can't describe the grip it took on a listener."

While waiting for the Dominion plane, Mr. Cain seized the opportunity of obtaining the names and ages of all the Indians, squaws, widows and papooses. Through the interpreter he told the chief, Simon Beardy, his wants and in a little while he had all the names.

FINE INDIAN TYPES

"They are an exceedingly fine type of Indian," said Mr. Cain. "We noticed that point, it was so evident. The farther from civilization we went the finer the Indian types became. They were dressed better, were more intelligent and were more prosperous. They themselves, stated it was because they were not close to white man's contamination and lived from the land."

Mr. Cain shook hands with every Indian, every squaw and every papoose. This, he said, seemed to have a tremendous bearing on the Indians, seeming to instil in them the feeling that the white men were coming as friends with good things rather than as despoilers.

A sports day was soon inaugurated after arrival of the plane. A young Newfoundlander, a trader of the post, and a college graduate, acted as interpreter, and he and Mr. Cain soon got a football game going.

Every white man at the post except the Anglican missionary was in the game and he had work to do, or would have been there, Mr. Cain said.

The white men won, although the Indians had been playing for weeks previous, practicing for the game that the factor had told them would be held. The men at the post, Mr. Cain stated, were all young and were great friends of the Indians.

After the game, Chief Simon Beardy stated through the young Newfoundlander that if his son had played the result would have been different. The son had captured the all-round field championship at the races and jumps that preceded the football game.

"We were kidding the chief good-humoredly, and he was taking it in good spirit," said Mr. Cain. "He was a fine-looking chap, with flashing teeth and was boasting about the son when somebody said 'applesauce.' He immediately wanted to know what that meant, and we had a terrible time explaining to him.

"Next morning we were all eating breakfast at the mission when he came along. He poked his head in the door, smiled broadly and said 'applesauce.' We all roared and he did, too. Now he can say three things in English,—applesauce, gasoline and uh-huh."

OPPOSES EXPLOITATION

The north country, stated Mr. Cain, just produces sufficient game at present to serve the needs of the Indians. He advised strongly against any development which would tend to deprive these native residents of their food supplies. As for sturgeon in the creeks and the mooted plans for fishing in the rivers, he stated it would be decidedly unwise as he had seen no large quantities of fish; there is just enough to meet the Indians' requirements. Also, he stated, there need be no fear of the Indians abusing the supplies of game and fish, they appreciated the value of game conservation.

Reports of timber thefts on Crown lands and Indian lands are greatly exaggerated, states Mr. Cain. A few instances of this were seen and he had investigated the cases. In each event he had found that the timber cut had been only a small quantity for local purposes and had been cut by mistake, the cutter not knowing he was in the wrong. In one instance, where Mr. Cain had measured the timber cut to obtain its value, he had been compelled to compute it from the house into which the timber had been built.

"My opinion of that country is greater than ever before," stated Mr. Cain, in concluding. "It is vast and wonderful. As to minerals, we saw a rock outcropping north of Lansdowne house that looked promising and we brought back some samples with us from the area. prospectors are not in there yet, but they will be soon. Some left to go in when we were coming out."

Canadians at St. Peter's

IN Rome, July 25, the Pope emerged from the walls of the Vatican for the first time since the breach with the Italian Government occurred in 1870. The ceremony was witnessed by thousands of Roman Catholic pilgrims from every section of the world. Among Canadian priests present for the ceremony were Rev. R. J. Dobell, No. 1, of St. Michael's College; Monsignor O'Sullivan, No. 2, of St. Augustine's Seminary, and Rev. F. G. Cabana, No. 3, also of St. Augustine's.—Photograph of Father Dobell is by Lyonde.

Continues to Come to Canada in Summer

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT

Ex-President of the United States, following his return to his Summer Home at Murray Bay, Quebec. In an interview he spoke of the existing friendship between Canada and the United States, predicting peace of amicable relations.

The Chinese are remarkable for the witty aphorisms with which they adorn their conversation very aptly. Here are a few collected by Dean Inge.

"A maker of idols is never an idolater."

"No needle is sharp at both ends."

"He who rides on a tiger can never dismount."

"When a neighbor is in your fruit orchard, inattention is the truest form of politeness."

"Do not remove a fly from your friend's forehead with a hatchet."

"Free sitters grumble most at a play."

"Everyone pushes a falling fence."

"One dog barks at nothing and the rest bark at him."

"You can't clap your hands with one palm."

"A wrong diagnosis."

Representative Clarence Cannon at a luncheon in Troy, was arguing the question of a farmer's ills.

"A wrong diagnosis," he repeated. "It reminds me of a story.

"A young mother on a train was doing her best to quiet a crying baby. Now she placed it here, now there. Now she raised the cushion under its head, now she stretched it out at full length. But nothing would do. The baby cried and cried.

"At last an old gentleman bent over the young mother and murmured politely.

"'Pardon me, madam, but don't you think it is board the baby wants instead of lodging.'"

Wealthy, but careful old gentleman to friend, who is impecunious, and calls to ask for a loan of $1,000: "Well, and what security have you?"

The caller slaps his chest as pledge of personal honor.

Careful old gentleman: "Very well (opening safe), please step in here, that's where I keep my securities."

Gallant Fox Shows Speed at Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., July 29.—Gallant Fox, two-year-old from the Belair stud, further jumped the two-year-old standings when he graduated from the maiden ranks today in winning the Flash Stakes at the opening of the Saratoga meeting.

W. R. Coe's Caruso was second, and George D. Widener's Hi-jack, making his first start, third. The race was worth $5,850. Gallant Fox stepped the five and one-half furlongs in 1.06.

Diavolo, the Wheatley Stables' great four-year-old, accounted for the Saratoga Handicap and $8,150, defeating a crack field of eight handicap runners. Hot Toddy was second, and Bateau, the Man o' War filly, third. Diavolo went the mile and a quarter in 2.03 3-5 to win by three lengths.

The room at the British House set aside for the thirteen women M.P.'s has been fitted with two mirrors. Which doesn't seem to give them much chance for reflection.

WORKMAN ELECTROCUTED

WINNIPEG, July 29. — John Campbell, workman, was electrocuted today when he came in contact with a power wire while removing some planks in a substation.

PRESCOTT CONCEDED

L'ORIGINAL, Que., July 29.—The election of Elieo Bertrand, Liberal, over his opponent, Gustave Evanturel, Independent Liberal, has been conceded in the Prescott by-election. With only five polls Mr. Bertrand's majority was 1,465.

SAYS BOYS IGNORE BIRCH

Boy criminals do not fear the birch, said W. Clarke Hall, a London police magistrate, at a recent meeting of the Magistrates' Association of England at Harrogate. He said that corporal punishment was simple and cheap, but ineffective. He produced records showing that 80 per cent of the boys birched were back again in court for similar offences within two years.

Because coal is too expensive for general use, Bolivia is considering harnessing some of its streams for motive power.

Gone!

The Old Methods of Barter and Trade

BARTER and trade . . . barter and trade. Since time immemorial the world has indulged in some kind of business. Trade between nations and individuals is the foundation of civilization . . . business is the network that links together our greatest social and political structures . . . yes, barter and trade is the thing that makes the world go around.

All through the ages the fundamental logic of buying and selling has remained the same . . . though nowadays its finer points have been marvelously embellished into various finished and polished forms.

Want ads, small as they are in size and cost, have become the giants of a new kind of trading between social forces. Gone are the old ways. And unless you have had actual experiences you'll never know just how want ads can facilitate your needs.

No matter what you want to sell . . . no matter what you want to buy . . . help wanted . . . rentals . . . endless every day buying and selling is accomplished quicker, better and more economically through The Daily Colonist want ads. The market you are trying to reach sits in the lap of our want ad pages.

Our readers are reliable buyers and sellers. To see a want ad in our paper is a guarantee of its integrity. Make use of them as others do for every need of barter and trade.

CHARLOTTE RETURNS TO ALASKA RUN

Repairs Following Accident Kept Her Out of Schedule Until Half-Way Through Season

ADELAIDE GOES UPON OLD ROUTE

The Princess Charlotte, when she leaves today for the North, will make a belated entry into the Alaskan Summer tourist business. She was to have started on June 7 and to have made five round journeys by this date. Now she will make four of such round trips, ending with her return to Victoria on September 9.

The vessel met with an accident to her starboard engine just before the opening of the season, and has been under repair until recently, when she resumed her run in the triangle service, from which she was relieved yesterday by the Princess Adelaide.

The Adelaide has made the journeys meanwhile of the scheduled Charlotte sailings to the north, but she has not the same accommodation for tourists as the Charlotte, and the officials are glad to have the latter vessel back to complete the advertised schedule.

SIDNEY-STEVESTON SERVICE

Effective June 15, 1929, the Motor Princess will leave Sidney at 8 a.m. and 3.50 p.m. for Steveston, returning at 12:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Nebraska Is to Take 900 Cases Of Local Fruit

With sixty-five tons of cargo from the United Kingdom for discharge, the Royal Mail Steam Packet freighter Nebraska is expected at Rithet piers on Wednesday morning, according to Mr. Adam P. Moffat, agent. The vessel left San Francisco at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

Outbound, the ship will load 900 cases of processed strawberries. Although the berries were grown in Saanich, there is no mention of the municipality on the cases. Their only markings are "Grown in B.C. for O.K. & Company, Vancouver."

Dorothy Off for Ports of Alaska On Sixth Voyage

On her sixth voyage of the season to Ketchikan, Sitka, Skagway, Juneau, Taku Glacier and Wrangell, the Pacific Steamship Company's Dorothy Alexander, is expected at Rithet piers from Seattle at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to Mr. W. M. Allan, agent. The ship will leave here three hours later.

DALWORTH IS DUE AT OGDEN POINT TO LOAD LUMBER

To load approximately 1,250,000 feet of lumber, the freighter Dalworth is due at Ogden Point docks in time to commence loading at 8 o'clock this morning, according to King Brothers, shipping agents.

Ss. Sheafmead is expected at Ogden Point on August 1 to load lumber for United States Atlantic Coast ports, according to King Brothers.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Kobenhavn May Be Afloat

THE story of Tristan da Cunha natives of the far-off South Atlantic gives new details of the disappearance of the Kobenhavn, the largest sailing vessel in the world. Its fate has been a mystery since reported missing with sixty cadets aboard. Captain H. Kristensen, of the Danish motorship Mexico, has been searching for the missing vessel, and credits the natives' story with a great deal of truth. They say the Kobenhavn was seen, all sails furled and none on board, drifting in the currents of the Tristan da Cunha islands. Captain Kristensen is refueling and continuing his search.

MACKENZIE TO GET REINDEER

Herd of 6,000 Animals to Be Transported From Alaska Starting October This Year

TO GUARD AGAINST RAVAGES OF WOLVES

OTTAWA, July 29.—Arrangements are now in progress for the transportation from Alaska to the eastern delta of the Mackenzie River of a herd of 6,000 reindeer and it is expected that the drive will begin some time in October. Several years will be required to herd that great number of animals across the northern strip of the Arctic.

Alarming reports of a growing scarcity of food in the northland have been received from time to time, and it is hoped that this action on the part of the Government may contribute in some measure towards allaying that alarm.

To protect them against the ravages of wolves while en route, and at the same time to prevent their straying with caribou in the migrations that might conceivably cross the path of the drive will be problems for the herdsmen.

Over a period of several years, two young Danes, R. T. Porsild and A. E. Porsild, born in Greenland and graduates of the University of Copenhagen, studied the question for the Federal Government and rendered their report a few months ago. On the basis of their investigations the Government has assumed the work.

STEEL AIRPLANE IS SATISFACTORY

Dominion Airways of Vancouver to Use Month for Instruction

VANCOUVER, July 29.—Tests on the new steel Gypsy Moth Dominion Airways plane which arrived in Vancouver Wednesday, have shown the plane to be satisfactory in every respect, according to L. A. Dobbin, Vancouver, manager of the company.

Instruction in aviation is now being taught in the new plane, which is the second one of the Dominion Airways at the Lulu Island airport. The company's seaplane is operating from Nelson during the Summer.

C.G.Ss. Berens is to leave port this morning for Gulf of Georgia lights, with annual supplies. She will be engaged in the work about two weeks.

Special day excursion rates for passengers every Sunday by Motor Princess from Sidney to Steveston and return.

AT SUMMER EXCURSION FARES

Fine, fast trains take you to great cities and resorts you've wanted to visit.

More than a trip back East

—a Circle Tour of as much of the United States as you like

There is double enjoyment in Southern Pacific circle trips. So much more than just a trip back East. You go one way, and return another; see and visit more places of interest than is possible in any other way.

You see the Pacific Coast, circle east and thru California and return via northern United States or Canadian lines.

Name your destination and the places you want to visit. Then let us plan your itinerary. You can stopover wherever you please and you have until Oct. 31 to complete your journey.

Here are a few examples of circle trip fares that show how to get more for your travel funds. No matter what your eastern destination it can be included in a Southern Pacific circle trip.

SUNSET CIRCLE $169.70

San Francisco, Los Angeles, the Southwest, San Antonio, New Orleans, then by boat to New York or continue thru the old South by rail to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York or midwest destinations.

GOLDEN STATE CIRCLE $108.30

San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Hollywood, thru the picturesque Southwest to Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago and all other midwest points.

OVERLAND CIRCLE $77.70

San Francisco, Lake Tahoe, across Great Salt Lake by rail, Ogden, Salt Lake City to Washington, Baltimore. For a small additional fare you may return thru Yellowstone or continue to Denver and the Rocky Mountain playground.

EMPRESS PALM COURT MUST GO

Will Be Converted Into Tea Room, Giving Access to Four New Elevators—Travelers' Sample Rooms

WORK ON MEZZANINE FLOOR GOES AHEAD

Work has now been started upon the new tea room, which will take the place of the old palm court in the Empress Hotel. The familiar glimpse of greenery, seen through the openings from the rotunda have become another thing of the past in the general change which is being made to cope with the increased demands for accommodation. The attractions of the palm court, however, will be given full scope in the new conservatory on the south side of the ballroom. The foundation walls of this conservatory have been completed, and delivery of the glass is expected daily.

The new tea room will be approached by a lobby, with a check room adjoining, situated near the entrance to the dining-room. An oak floor is being laid down, and the room will form an approach to the new elevators. The decoration will conform to the scheme existing in the rotunda, and the same will apply to the design of the new fireplace which is being installed against the west wall. The glass dome roof will remain, but the fountain will be removed from the centre. It is expected that the tea rooms and elevators will be operating by the beginning of September.

The plastering on the mezzanine floor of the new north wing has now been completed, as has the tiling in nearly all of the bathrooms on this floor. The mezzanine floor is devoted to big sample rooms, which will have a bedroom alcove and private bathroom attached. The traveler, therefore, will be able to sleep in the same room with his samples, and the alcove will be shut off from the rest of the room by a curtain during the daytime. This scheme has proved very satisfactory in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

Great Whale Pays Interesting Visit To Burrard Inlet

VANCOUVER, July 29.—A big whale was sighted in Burrard Inlet this morning by passengers on the city-bound 9.30 a.m. North Vancouver ferry. The whale sported around in the water, sounding and blowing and followed the ferry for a distance.

E. S. Estlin, civil engineer, Dominion Bank Building, one of those aboard the ferry, said the whale was seen about midstream. There was considerable excitement on the ferry.

CFCT

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Department of Education's broadcast will take place over CFCT, Victoria's radio station, and Mr Robert Straight, B.A., will address radio listeners on "Test Making." This feature will originate in the Department's Summer School for Teachers.

The closing market quotations will be announced at 6 o'clock tonight, and then the nightly hour with the Sunset Broadcasters will be presented over the local broadcasting station. The Sunset Trio is scheduled to perform this evening, and will open the door of instrumental music with a selection from "The Lilac Domino," by Gulliver. This collection of gems will be followed by four beautiful songs, which are Meyer-Helmund's "The Magic Song," Anton Rubenstein's "The Dew Is Sparkling," "Every Morn I Send Thee Violets," by Meyer-Helmund, and Mendelssohn's famous "On Wings of Song." Tonight's Sunset entertainment will also include Rudolf Priml's "Legende," as well as "A Celtic Dance," from the pen of Bullard.

At 7.30 tonight, following the nightly announcement period, the Department of Education's second programme will be introduced, when Mr E. R. Chamberlain, B.A., will address radio enthusiasts. This event will close soon after 8 o'clock, and then CFCT's last programme for tonight will take place. "Mikes" will be in action in the south ballroom of the Crystal Garden, and the dance orchestra will delight jazz patrons with an hour of the last word in syncopation. The measured beat of the modern dance will be the order until midnight, and then Victoria's radio station, CFCT, will be silent.

The Mysterious Circle

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Among the virtues, great and small,
Obedience doth lead them all.
—Mrs. Bob White.

"That is a mystery circle," said Little Mrs. Bob

Mrs. Bob White had played a smart trick on Redtail the Hawk. She had done exactly what Peter Rabbit thought she had done. You know, Peter had watched her from a distance. She had left her sixteen babies squatting flat in the grass and had flown over to Farmer Brown's cornfield. Redtail the Hawk had swooped at her and had followed. Then for a while he had flown in circles watching for little Mrs. Bob. But she also was squatting now and she didn't move. As long as she didn't move she couldn't be seen even by those sharp eyes of Redtail the Hawk. At last, with a scream of disappointment, Redtail flew off to hunt elsewhere.

As soon as she was sure that Redtail had left, Mrs. Bob started back for where she left her babies. She didn't fly at once. She ran part of the way in the grass. By and by she took to those stout little wings of hers. She flew straight over those squatting little babies and alighted some distance beyond. Then she turned and ran back through the grass. She had done this because she was fearful that watchful eyes might see her flying and might go to look where she alighted. Back where she had left her babies she gave a sharp cluck. Instantly, sixteen little brown darlings were crowding around her. They hadn't moved so much as a feather since she had given them the warning to squat and keep still.

It was the next day that Peter Rabbit happened to meet the Bob White family. Bob White himself was with them. Peter hastened to tell Mrs Bob that he had seen her smart trick in fooling Redtail the Hawk.

"That was nothing," said little Mrs. Bob. "That trick wouldn't have been any good if the children had failed to do their part. If one of them had moved, my trick wouldn't have worked. So the credit was due to the children quite as much as it was to me."

Peter nodded in agreement. "That's true," said he. "I don't know when I've seen such well brought up children." He turned to look at them. At first he didn't see them. Then he discovered them and he didn't know what to make of what he saw. They were with their father and they all were sitting crouched down in a circle, tail to tail. That is, the seventeen tails all met in a common centre. Bob and the sixteen little Bob Whites were all facing out. That is, each one was facing in a different direction. There they sat and actually seemed to be dozing.

Peter looked at Mrs. Bob in an inquiring way. She saw the puzzled look on his face. "They're taking a nap," said she.

"So I see," replied Peter dryly. "But what I don't see is why they are all in a circle that way."

"That is a mystery circle," said little Mrs. Bob.

"It's a what?" injuired Peter.

"It is a mystery circle," repeated little Mrs. Bob.

"I don't understand," said Peter.

Little Mrs. Bob chuckled. "It wouldn't be a mystery if you did, would it?" she inquired. "Perhaps some day you'll learn what it means," she added. "Those children are learning a lesson as well as getting a nap."

"What lesson?" asked Peter bluntly.

Again little Mrs. Bob chuckled. "That's a part of the mystery," said she.
